Jason George joh thank you so much for joining me on the podcast man appreciate it thank you for the invitation Danny it's a pleasure to be here for people listening can you give just a brief background on yourself and uh your history and philosophy and everything that you've studied and written about sure so I'm a native New Yorker and uh I did my ba and my ma at New York University and then I completed my doctorate in philosophy at the State University of New York uh on Long Island and then I spent a number of years teaching at uh a bunch of different colleges in the New York and New Jersey area greater Gotham as I like to call it and I taught philosophy uh history of philosophy ethics comparative religion um Pol political Theory at one point and also the history of Iran and in philosophy often my focus was uh philosophy of science and technology and its relationship to society so STS science technology and Society so it's a wide range of areas that I taught in MH before then uh getting involved in some very unusual political machinations uh which ultimately led to me being in the pages of the New York Times and Newsweek and so forth which we can talk about yeah what was all that about it seems like there was some sort of a campaign against you to to to is to smear you discredit you that ended up on the front or not the front page but in the New York Times and inside of a bunch of different Publications and somehow the MI6 was involved in this yeah it's a long story but I think actually it's an interesting one so and we have time so I'll I'll uh unpack it for you so I had written this doctoral dissertation Prometheus and Atlas in 2012 and received my doctorate for it in 2013 uh then the book was expanded and published in 2016 right so my first book Prometheus and Atlas which by the way it won the book award of the par Psychological Association in 2016 wow and this is relevant to the story I'm about to uh unfold for you because right after that book came out I in a rather I would say meteoric fashion became very well connected in the parapsychology community among you know very serious researchers like people at the society for scientific exploration of which I became a member and people at the Paras Psychological Association a lot of the folks that you've interviewed uh are connected to those same people and um you know we're talking like Russell targ who I got to meet there at one of the the PA conferences um and Hal put off of course as a prominent member of the society for scientific exploration so I became well connected in those circles and Prometheus and Atlas was hailed in those circles as you know one of the most important or if not the most important parchal Treatise for a long time uh even though I was coming at you know parapsychological data from the standpoint of a philosopher who was interested in the deeper conceptual implications of these things so point being I'm very connected to these people and in a way that I think is also going to wind up being relevant a lot of these same people wound up Central to the UFO disclosure movement as it has now you know begun to unfold and this is the Milla in my life when in so my book is published in February and then in about I would say May or June of 2016 this guy from London reaches out to me and he says I kid you not he is the British uh head the head of the British branch of the V Society now the V Society were supposedly these occultists who created the National Socialist German Workers Party the Nazi party okay they were like these Barons and Aristocrats in Austria and Germany actually mostly based originally in Austria remember Hitler was from Austria not from Germany and Baron sabot andorf and his associates created this oult circle that had these female mediums involved with it Maria orsich and others and they claimed to be channeling messages from you know entities okay uh and believe it or not these people created the Nazi party as a pack as a political action committee in order to fight the rise of Communism in Germany remember Marx was a German and even though the uh you know the Soviet Union became the first Bastion of Communism communism was born in Germany and there was already a very strong communist contingent in the Weimar Republic and these U these Aristocrats uh cultists were not interested in seeing communism seize political power in Germany so they they created this political front the Nazi party and hired somebody like Hitler who was a good orator to basically defend their interests defend the interests of

aristocracy and so the occultism of of Nazism really uh is is something that um is brought in from the ground up okay as these people are setting up this Society so anyway that's to give you a background what's the real society and this guy reaches out to me he goes so the real Society is basically like a modern spin-off of what was happening no no no I mean that's what they called it back then that's what they called it back then so it's still active it's still alive today some people say it was called the Thula gazelle shaft the thul society thul is the Germanic concept for Atlantis the Germanic equivalent of Atlantis so some people say it was called Thula gazelle sha or Atlantis society and that it was organ organized around the idea of real and some people say that the th Society spun off into the real Society in any case it was this thing back then and and this guy contacts me and he says I'm the head of the British branch of the real Society MH now to put that in context for you there were a lot of people at a high level in the British Parliament in the House of Lords and so forth even in the early 1940s who wanted to make not just a Deton with Hitler but an alliance with
Nazis and um actually you know Hitler made like three peace offers to these people to try to solicit the British Empire to come into some kind of strategic alliance with him so point being that there would be a British branch of the real Society is not completely bizarre it's conceivable but it strained credulity for me somewhat that in whatever 2016 some gu is calling me or writing me and saying this anyway I dismissed the guy he sounded like a nutcase and I had come out with this book which although it's a very serious philosophical text Prometheus and Atlas goes into all kinds of paranormal phenomena and in the last chapter also engages with UFO phenomenon and I had been getting kind of crank emails from a lot of people so I dismissed the guy then I got involved at the same time with a very highlevel uh Iranian opposition group so I'm uh Persian by paternal descent and for a long time since at least I would say at least in a serious way since 2009 when there was that green Uprising in Iran mhm at least since 2009 I had been involved in a serious way in the Iranian opposition to the Islamic Republic to try to you know remove this regime from power and to to develop a form of government that would reflect the will of the Iranian people so I get involved with this very highlevel um sociopolitical group devoted to a cultural and political revolution in Iran not just regime change but a cultural revolution in Iran and then once I'm involved with them this guy contacts me again and he says to

um a broadcast facility in Croatia where we can bombard the Islamic Republic with whatever anti-regime propaganda you want to tailor for this purpose and there's a guy in Washington Michael baggley who runs a private intelligence agency called Jellyfish and they're the ones managing this dish in Croatia which can bombard you know the Islamic Republic with whatever kind of message you want to get into the country and I said all right look let me just Google this character right and I Googled him and there was a story from Mother Jones and a story that had been run in wired about jellyfish which was presenting the organization as the salvaged intelligence directorate of Blackwater you remember what Blackwater was Eric Prince right yep okay so what happened was Blackwater fell apart and Eric Prince was he let's see he became increasingly dissatisfied with the kinds of people that were around him and the kinds of people that he had to deal with within the US deep State and the intelligence Community I think he came to feel that his efforts to bring security to Iraq were being undermined by people in the broader intelligence community and so he sort of left um what had been Blackwater and the organization disintegrated that was of course a mercenary organization but it had an in-house intelligence service and Jellyfish was a rebranded form of blackwater's intelligence service it's in-house intelligence and Michael had worked as Eric Prince's like intelligence director this guy Michael Bagley okay so this creepy crazy guy in London tells me call Michael Bagley and he will be able to help you with these regime change efforts in Iran so I said fine with one phone call I'll figure out whether this guy is a crank or whether there's something to this and I called and the guy was expecting my call we had a nice conversation yeah and we had a couple meetings over the course of a few months we had a lot of Correspondence and a couple of meetings in person and so so basically this guy in London Jonathan got me involved with the Former Intelligence director of Blackwater through my interest in bringing about regime change in Iran because he failed with this whole bizarre real Society angle right right but then over the course of my much more tangible involvement with uh Michael and jellyfish in terms of Iran regime change he brought back he brought this weird stuff back into the conversation the Nazi stuff weird stuff related to that like for example we we had been discussing this privately um my interaction with Jacques Vallée so at one Point Jonathan tells me that and by the way let me just preface this this is kind of out of the order of the story but it's worth mentioning upfront so that people get a more of a sense of who it was I was dealing with when this whole Fiasco wound up uh ending with my defamation in the pages of the New York Times and Newsweek and stories on NBC and so forth uh I dug into who this character was this Londoner Jonathan yeah and this guy has been initiated into more than a handful of the top secret societies in the world he was like a 32nd or 33rd degree Mason he belonged to um all kinds of you know like rosac crucian Golden Dawn orders and all over the world from Argentina to various countries in Europe what also look I was working to try to bring about regim change in Iran right right so I had a little bit of involvement with people in Mossad well and oh really yeah and for the record for the record I've never taken a single shekele from the state of Israel by the way they offered me money and I was so insulted that at that point I cut off communication with them but in any case I did work closely with about four different people in Mad how did you get connected with them it was part of the let's say lobbying efforts we were carrying out for the sake of change of regime in Iran during the Trump Administration which if you can remember at that time he had well Mike Pence had since 2009 in in the Congress Mike Pence had been a very outspoken advocate for regime change in Iran and then at that time John Bolton was also if you remember in the administration and he's been an Iran regime change Hawk so anyway we were we were carrying out some serious lobbying in Washington I went to the capital and had some meetings including with one of the members of the National Security Council at one point and anyway in that context as you can imagine I also engage with people representing state of Israel because there's no country in the world that has more of a vested interest in seeing the regime change in Iran than Israel does for a very good reason but my point is this one of these characters in Mossad had worked with Jonathan before and knew knew him quite well and in the course of conversation he inadvertently revealed to me that Jonathan was a well-placed uh MI6 operative which I had not been aware of I thought he's just like some britisher who knows the head of uh Blackwater intelligence but then I find out and I found this out very late in my involvement with him and had I known this upfront I would not have been dealing with him but anyway point being so guys initiated into all these secret societies he's also an MI6 operative okay and he's doing things like writing letters saying he's the head of the British branches of real Society okay so this guy so this guy at one

JPL engineer who has supposedly schematics for a retrofitted reverse engineered version of the Nazi Bell okay there was this thing called Die Glocke Danny I use the same term for everything and now my face smells like balls sounds like you need the BBB brother the big black it's the
right so like with nuclear um technology yeah you can either create an uncontrolled um an uncontrolled fision reaction or you can control the nuclear reaction to have a power plant that you get like calibrated energy from out of MH and this Bell was like that it was something that could generate power and be a source basically of free energy in the sense that you're getting more energy out of it than you're putting into it okay real quick what year is this again 43 to 44 no no no when what year is this when the guy the MI6 guy or um the guy from jellyfish introduced you to the guy from JPL it was spring of 2017 if I'm not mistaken the spring of 2017 so and who was the one who introduced you to the JPL guy um was it the jellyfish guy or was it the the guy in London MI6 guy the MI6 guy so why is this MI6 operative introducing somebody who's trying to lobby for an Iranian regime change to somebody working on some ancient Nazi science remember the guy introduced himself to me as the head of the British branch of the V society and I completely dismissed him so what I think is that when he saw me clearly I was under surveillance by these people and when he saw me involved with Iran regime change and saw that I was willing to basically risk my life for the sake of that project which I was by the way and we can get into that too you know the crazy lengths I went to to try to facilitate regime change in Iran um he saw that it's something that I cared about so much that he could use it to manipulate me so it wasn't about the Iran stuff that was just a way I think to get a hook into me to work try to engage him on other things which had more to do with UFOs and Paras psychology and so so forth okay that's my guess of what his M Mo was so he introduces me to this JPL guy who's got these schematics that claim to be an updating of this Bell technology to our time right so you imagine in 1940s we had computers of a size of walls right giant transistors if you're going to build something like the Bell today it doesn't need to be that size whatever that thing was 9 to 12 feet tall you could probably put it as they claimed in a cylinder like this size and this guy had these schematics um of basically this Mercury thorium reactor which was in this kind of cylindrical form and they had clusters of them that were connected to each other that were collect ly produce power and each of them would fit inside an encased module and you could put these modules together like each one was like a slice in a pizza pie and you could build this larger okay uh larger um Power Plant and the idea with that is that you could scale it up as much as you wanted you could use this thing to power a car or you could use it to power an aircraft carrier and depending on how many modules you connect it to each other and he sends me okay so I had had dinner with Jacques Vallée at his home um when was it and I think I think it was a late 2016 or very early 2017 and uh it was about my book

Prometheus and Atlas because he had read Prometheus and Atlas shortly after it came out and of course I discuss his work in that book you know uh his uh passport to me Magonia invisible College were significant influences on my philosophical analysis of UFO phenomenon and it was reflected in the text of Prometheus and Atlas And I think also that there were some novel ideas I had in that book about the archetype of Prometheus and how it expresses the essence of technological science as a force in world history and how I developed that idea in the context of the philosophical work of say Martin Heidegger which jacqu was very interested in and so he invited me to his home we had a very nice dinner together uh and there had there was one picture of us that I had I suppose made the mistake of posting in social media and this guy Jonathan saw that photo so he became aware of the fact that I was involved with jacqu Val and had some kind of access to him so then I guess late spring 2017 or early summer he sends me with this NASA JPL guy to jacqu in San Francisco and I set up a meeting in the Fairmont Hotel actually on the top of Knob Hill and this guy presents these schematics to valet and he he does this in the guise of valet as a Silicon Valley venture capitalist saying to him basically look this is we have this blueprint I guess you call it blueprint and uh we're working on a prototype and we want to try to find venture capital for this and long story short um I was supposed to meet with uh jacqu again to get his personal assessment of what this what this guy was about because frankly at this point I didn't trust any of these people and I was starting to think that maybe I am uh being played by some kind of you know um Master manipulators of the type that valet discusses at length in his book messengers of deception he wrote this whole book in the late 70s about intelligence agencies and basically criminal syndicates who use the UFO phenomenon and other bizarre uh happenings in order to manipulate people through a kind of elaborate smok and mirrors game and I actually wanted his opinion on whether he thought that these were the kinds of people that I was dealing with in which case I was really thinking at that point to cut them off but anyway uh he had some kind of personal surgery and personal issues that prevented me from regrouping with him after this meeting with the NASA engineer the former NASA JPL engineer right so I never got to get his assessment and then I think it was within a month later that I was defamed in the New York Times and frankly I don't blame valet for not wanting to communicate with me after that he has a very significant reputation to maintain and here I am being accused of all kinds of nonsense so how did you get defamed how did that happen so okay so I'll I'll lead with that and then I'll come wrap back around to tell you another story with regard to this Londoner okay um in I think it was June of 2017 I sat down with this young man in a bar uh in the shadow of the Empire State Building who purported to be a a right-wing youth from Sweden who was who had been on assignment in Britain studying like I don't know like Viking Pagan groups for some thesis he was writing about freedom of uh the suppression of freedom of expression in Academia so he claimed to be writing this thesis about how free speech is being suppressed in Academia okay and that his main subject of research were right-wing groups in Europe and he had been in Britain and these guys at the London Forum had uh basically written to me and begged me to meet with this guy when he visited New York now the London forum is a kind of right leaning think tank in London where I had been invited in February of 2017 to come give a talk on Heidegger and philosophy of Technology right and to promote my book Prometheus and Atlas now now guess who set up that talk for me at the London Forum in February of 27 not Jonathan yes Jonathan Yes dear and interestingly enough interestingly enough when I went to speak at the London Forum by the way there were police helicopters around the building there was a police cordin around the building we're talking about Britain earlier off record right I mean I have never seen a police presence like this in my life for some 253 right-wing people uh collected into a room presenting intellectual papers there was such an antifa presence marshaled outside this conference hotel that they cordoned the whole place off not just with cops on the ground but with police helicopters there were literally Chopper noises in the background of my talk on haider's philosophy of technology so but here's the thing Jonathan who invited me to this talk never showed he didn't come to the conference himself and anyway I'm not going to go into the details there but point being it was very suspicious and then and then it's these London Forum guys who contact me and they say look this young kid's coming and he's doing this dissertation thing and you know we want you to help him out he wants to interview you and get your perspective on the subject suppression of freedom of speech in Academia so I sit down with this guy in this Pub and little do I know he's wired under his clothes okay he's wired with a camera and microphone under his clothes is this it yeah and so he films he films two hours of footage of me two hours and of this two hours of footage 2 minutes of it wind up in the New York Times right so imagine that the guy records me for 2 hours and the two hours of audio is spliced down to 2 minutes with sentences and half sentences of mine stitched together to make it sound like I said things that I didn't what did it what did they try to make you say so I'll give you an example at one point I talk about how I think that if the current migration policies continue remember this was 201 17 so starting in 2014 2015 we had seen Angela Merkel in Germany allowing these millions of migrants to come in through turkey from Syria right and so forth Europe was being overrun by migrants both from the Middle East and from North Africa okay and they were women in all across Germany there were there were horrendous social problems that were ensuing as a result of this okay and so I said in that uh interview look if these policies continue like this we're going to see a horrendous backlash a right-wing reaction and by 20150 you're going to have Alexander Napoleon and Hitler on European currency which is a rather rather you know melodramatic you know statement right but it's making a point that if this kind of policy continues for another 20 30 years right there's going to be a very extreme rightwing reaction reaction yeah so at one point I say that at another completely different juncture in the conversation we're discussing a potential nuclear war between India and Pakistan and I say to him in that context that we meaning the West allied with India could win that war at the cost of a few hundred million people now you have to understand India is a country with a population of what like 1.2 billion something like that Pakistan's got like I don't know couple hundred million people right so I'm talking about a potential nuclear war in the Indian subcontinent might be won by India at the cost of a few hundred million people so he takes that passage at the cost of a few 100 million people and the Hitler nap Alexander Napoleon Hitler thing and splices them together like I'm advocating for the return of Nazism and calling for the extermination of hundreds of millions of people like in Europe and the West to give you one example of the horrendous distortions so predictions were turned into prescriptions and completely unrelated statements were stitched to one another and two hours of audio cut down to about two and a half minutes and put right there in the New York Times and then carried by Newsweek and a lot of other mainstream media and what was the purpose of this what was what acts did they have to grind what did they gain by doing this to you so I had been involved uh not involved I I was a formative member of um what we called the altright corporation in in 2016 the alt-right you know as Trump was running for office right the alt-right was this completely amorphous [unclear] show of various political Tendencies from Libertarians to um fascists frankly to uh I don't know Christian Evangelical type groups there was no cohesive and coherent overarching ideology the only thing that you know bound the so-called alternative right together was its opposition to um basically you know typical entrenched conservatism right like the Republican party in United States big business typical conservatism the only thing that bound all these groups together was that and the way I got involved with this is that uh basically I had been looking at this political landscape and for Cas in that we were going to have the rise of a very regressive traditionalist white identity politics and I wanted to try to make sure that the alt-right did not go in that direction at the same time I was working as I said with the Iranian opposition and this is going to be a difficult one for you to wrap your mind around and maybe also some of your listeners because people are very unfamiliar with the sociopolitics of Iran but right Iran means Aryan and so uh Iran is like definitionally speaking the Aryan Nation the name of the country means that it's the cradle and homeland of the Aryans and so the discourse that's rising up today against Islamic fundamentalism in Iran is an Aryan discourse it's a discourse for the Revival of the pre-islamic identity of the Persian people and of other Iranians but what Aran means in Iran is completely different from what it meant in I don't know uh 1940s Europe or 1930s Europe right so what did it mean well I mean the term technically just means noble noble and it's a self- descriptor that the people in in in that land applied to themselves right so the land of the Aryans yeah land of the arens so so look here's the thing Iran traditionally throughout history has been the most Cosmopolitan country on Earth uh it's a civilization that emerged from out of the synthesis of all kinds of different people some of them ethnically related like the Persians and the skians and the mes who are all Aryans or Iranians but many others you know not ethnically related like the Babylonians the Assyrians the lydians Iran at its very Foundation was a very sort of multiethnic Cosmopolitan entity and it became even more so throughout the course of history because if you look at where Iran is placed graphically it's right at the crossroads of the world it's between India China uh Eurasia right and um the Middle East and North Africa so it is the crossroads of the world and throughout the course of history it served as the single greatest conduit for the cross-pollination of various civilizations right it's how Europe influenced India and how Indian influen streamed back into Europe it had a fundamental impact on Chinese civilization and then when the Mongols came in and conquered Iran Asian civilization also impacted Iranian identity so it's like this Global Melting Pot it's the closest thing to a civilizational Melting Pot that you had before the United States arose and there are a lot of structural similarities actually Jefferson was deeply influenced by uh ancient Iranian political thought when he came up with the Constitution of the United States because he was reading Greeks like xenophon and Herodotus who wrote about the structure of the Persian uh imperial system was telling me about this yeah which was a federal system anyway um and they all had tremendous reverence for Cyrus the founder of the Persian Empire the father of Iran as this great humanitarian Cosmopolitan humanistic Statesman right so I have this whole Persian Heritage and I'm involved in this Iranian opposition movement which is reclaiming Aran identity but in this Cosmopolitan sense and so I have this Vision that if I can take what was then called the European new right newat in Europe and my books uh you know are published by the leading press arctos the leading press of the European U right which by the way also publishes Alexander Dugan and I I thought to myself if I can take the European new right and this [unclear] show that's the emerging American alt-right and I can fuse it somehow with the Aryan Renaissance in Iran then I can shift the trajectory of this whole thing away from White nationalism and this kind of regressive tradition white identity politics toward something much more Progressive and Cosmopolitan right okay this is what I'm thinking so when I think of altright how it's portrayed in the media and how it's been portrayed in the media during Trump's whole campaign and his whole run it was mainly like an opposition against Trump right it was it was a term that was I don't know if it was hijacked or you you mean a way to damage Trump a way to when I think of when you think of alt-right you're thinking of like extreme rightwing white nationalist racist people right yeah so what is the actual def what is your how do you define all right well when I got involved with the thing the term had been defined by Paul gotfried who was a Jew and a Libertarian okay so it had no definition if we rewind the clock back to October of 2016 mhm it was an amorphous phenomenon there were these white nationalists involved right and I was concerned looking at what was happening in Europe with the migrants right that this nent alt-right in America would fuse with the worst elements in Europe and that we would see a kind of return to Fascism okay and so what I wanted to do was to recalibrate the trajectory now this Londoner exploited that uh interest of mine and got himself involved with my attempts to create alliances between Americans Europeans and Persians during that period of time and he actually made the promise to me that his associates would bankroll the formation of a single Corporation the alt-right corporation uh to fuse a number of different entities my publisher arctos media this um media outfit called Red Ice radio and television and also uh Think Tank called the national policy Institute which at that time Richard Spencer had been running and they told me look Geor you'll be the chairman of this thing and we're going to make you a liaison to uh to the White House where you'll go in and engage with Steve Bannon and try to influence Trump's policies through engagement with Bannon and Bannon was known to have been an Avid Reader of the books put out by my publisher he's interested in Dugan he sat down with Dugan at one point um and he's interested in Evola Julius Evola and other authors that are published uh by my uh publishing house so the idea was to turn me into a person who could um basically consolidate the European new right and the alt right and be a liaison to the White House and the way they hooked me was to tell me that this would facilitate our efforts at regime change in Iran that was the main you know I think um angle of approach that they used to convince me to do this but here's the thing between January of 2017 when that corpor operation was formed and September of 2017 when I was defamed mhm that funding that was promised never materialized and they gave me excuse after excuse after they I mean Jonathan's people gave me excuse after excuse and uh Jellyfish why the funding wasn't coming through they gave me every excuse and at some point I think it was maybe it was in the again in the spring I would say of 200 17 I had had it with them and I was ready to cut off these people and say okay well clearly they've been playing me this whole time and then here's what they do in response to that Jonathan sends me a nearly $1 billion oil contract the actual sum was was 800 something close to $900 million for the Reconstruction of the Venezuelan National oil industry so now if you rewind back to Spring of what do you mean he sent you a contract it was I don't know it was like maybe 100 Pages nearly 100 pages and the contract outlined the Reconstruction of every aspect of Venezuela's national oil industry so if you rewind back to uh May of 2017 nothing was going on in Venezuela about four or five months later there started to be major protests against the government there and what he had told me when he sent me this contract was that we um we are going to overthrow the government of Venezuela and we need to the UK is I don't know on behalf of What entity he was speaking look we I found out the guy was a MI6 operative but I mean we can discuss this also later in the course of our conversation the intelligence Services of countries are routinely infiltrated and I think that there are many Rogue there are many Rogue elements and outfits inside certainly our intelligence services in the United States and I'm sure also in theirs right so I don't know who this Wii was exactly right but clearly they were controlling the Former Intelligence directorate of Blackwater and they had deep ties in MI6 and he said look we're going to overthrow the government of Venezuela and we need to get into the oil industry before we do that now here's the interesting thing four or five months later I forget exact within within 6 months of that time okay there was this massive revolt against Maduro in Venezuela yes and the way Maduro put that down is he rounded up the oil bosses so he knew the coup was coming from within the oil industry okay so this lines up with what the guy told me but why am I telling you this my point is this that people might look at this and say like georan how were you so naive to be strung along for so long by these people well look when someone puts a $900 million oil contract in front of you and you know they seem to be capable of reconstructing the Venezuelan National oil industry and by the way I was also told that they were behind this came out in the course wait I don't understand why did they put it in front of you what was the purpose of putting it in front of you he was wanted to no no no I knew a petroleum engineer at one of the most uh prominent oil companies in the world and he said to me because here's the thing remember they had promised me this money for the alt-right corporation capital investment to make me chairman of the altright corporation money never came through so now he's saying look we'll get you the money by some other means uh here's proof of funds or something well we'll raise the funds so he said take this contract to this oil executive that you know and if his company is willing to carry out this project you'll get the commission on the deal okay I see you'll get the commission and by the way this petroleum engineer said to me I think probably wisely on his part he said look I don't want any part of this money if I get a commission from this deal you can have all of it now that would be a lot more than what they had initially be been promising me to as a capital investment set up the altright corporation and preside over it as its chairman so point being these people gave me reason not to dismiss them and disconnect with them and that's how they strung me along for as long as they did interestingly enough uh my defamation came I think within less than a month of my resigning from the alt-right corporation uh within 24 hours of Charlottesville so the situation yeah well the situation was my partners look here's here's the thing thing I was supposed to be the chairman right but I was also supposed to bring in this money for the corporation since I didn't bring in the money I began to be sidelined by my partners and by about well the summer of 2017 I had completely lost control of this entity it had become like a Frankenstein's monster right I lost control of it and my partners went to Charlottesville and made this mess and within 24 hours I said no no no no you know I was still involved at a high level in Iranian opposition I lobbying in Washington and so forth so I said there's no way I want to be involved with this I mean this has become a travesty and I resigned now I hardly think it's a coincidence that it's only several weeks after my resignation that I was defamed in the New York Times and that they used a video that they they had recorded months prior to that so let me go back to the bar the bar in the shadow of the Empire State Building where this young man recorded me yes I did my digging after that and I found out that this organization that he claimed to represent hope not hate some social justice sjw antifa type organization is actually a front for British intelligence it was a front for MI5 domestically initially in Britain and I think it's opened to branch in the United States so at this point probably it's under the M jurisdiction of MI6 so point being that kid was at the very least operating at the behest of people involved with British intelligence and when when did they choose to release this video in the New York Times after they've lost me as an asset once I have resigned from the alt-right corporation so from what I'm understanding whoever is behind this guy Jonathan at the MI6 they do not want you to create some sort of an alliance between the United States right-wing Europe and Iran yes why what is their motivation for for for wanting to throw a wrench in that plan twofold at least one on the ideological level such a constellation of power would prevent the right-wing in the west let's say in general from going in a racist fascist Direction yes that mirrors what happened in 1930s 40s Europe why because the Iranian youth are not interested in some uh Nazi style regime to replace the Islamic Republic right they're interested in women's equal rights freedom of expression and technological and scientific progress I know you probably aren't aware of this maybe a lot of your audience isn't either Iran is one of those few countries that enjoys the distinction of having been the world leader in science and technology for 250 years no less between about let's say 900 ad and 1150 ad while Europe was in the you know Dark Age of medievalism right uh Iran was a Powerhouse of scientific research and technological innovation so you know the Persians are one of these people who have contributed tremendously to the advancement of knowledge and to you know um creative Innovation on the planet and it goes back to the basic ethos of zor arrianismo thra is oriented around the progressive Spirit at work in the cosmos and what it means to be a co-creator with the Divine and to uh build a more ideal future for everybody right it's a very futuristic Progressive mindset and this is what is now um overthrowing the Islamic Republic not just on a political level but in terms of cultural revolution and my thinking had been that if I could plug European and American society into the battery that is the Iranian youth then I could redirect this right-wing reaction in a way that would be much more uh futurist Progressive and humanitarian got it you see and clearly somebody in British intelligence doesn't want that to be the the case now there's another more tangible let's say materialistic concern why don't you think they want that to be the

agenda and uh who knows if you know they they control the British state but they may be a rogue element that has a certain agenda that they want to see unfold in the world and that agenda may include you know the rise of uh you know racist and hierarchical form of political power in the European continent and in the west at large but I think that there's another um aspect of this that's much more uh cynical and um uh down to earth and that's that I didn't want Iran to be looted when I was involved in the opposition it became very clear to me that uh you know Iran is encircled by corporate vultures who are just waiting for this regime to collapse so that they can come in and recolonize well colonize the country Iran never was properly colonized but it came awfully close when the British and the Russians carved up the country into spheres of influence um in the early 1900s and basically controlled all of Iran's resources remember the British came in in the early 20th century and they created something called the anglo-persian oil company which later became British Petroleum it became British Petroleum after Muhammad mad kicked their asses out of Iran right Muhammad mad the democratically elected uh nationalist prime minister of Iran uh nationalized Iran's oil in 1951 and this was a huge blow to the British in particular and that's when the anglo-persian oil company became what we know as British Petroleum today right so there's a whole history of the exploitation of Iran's re Resources by foreign powers and the agenda that my colleagues and I were pursuing for regime change in Iran was one that would protect Iran's national resources from this kind of foreign exploitation and I also think that they did not want someone you know who looks the way I do and who speaks English as fluently as I do as a native New Yorker and an American to be able to be an international mouthpiece for the defense of Iran's national

play it's also crazy that they were able to get the New York Times did the New York Times reach out to you before they published this I think maybe 18 hours beforehand 18 hours beforehand you can imagine that day for me I threatened to sue the guy I was ranting at him on the telephone the editor of the show yeah I was like are you kidding me you know this was a two-hour conversation like what if you print you know anyway CU yeah I was not happy to say the least I got about 18 hours heads up from this guy yeah it's interesting that they would publish something like that so quickly yeah well you know you know this Danny with one source you know that New York Times Newsweek NBC CBS they all have intelligence operatives well placed within their organizations they are controlled but their narrative is controlled by the anglo-american Deep State and so that suggests to me that one piece of evidence right there that one data point suggests to me that actually whoever was pulling the strings in London is part of the anglo-american establishment because they have that kind of reach with the New York Times I've had people on here that have worked with big Publications like similar to the New York Times some of them actually with the New York Times and they've explained their experience with reporting on topics such as like covert Ops for example that the CIA deputy director has a relationship with the editor-in-chief of some of these Publications right and they have to when it comes to reporting on some of these things that involve the CIA they have to run it by the deputy director or whoever it is that's their liais on at that publication and typically they won't just say no don't run this this is false or we're denying this so you cannot run this you're not allowed to run this they'll say we're not going to tell you whether this is true or false but if you do run this you could be responsible for tons of innocent lives or operatives that we have embedded in these places that are going to die so blood on blood's on your hands and they also say to them if you don't run this there are five or six other interesting stories that we can help you tell you know by dealing you certain sensitive information they make these kinds of deals with them as well one of the Publications that I went to after my defamation I mean I didn't go to them but um I was approached by them uh and I thought I would use it as an opportunity to basically clear my name and tell my side of the story because supposedly this publication had a history of speaking truth to power um and you know basically exposing corrupt machinations in the context of Foreign Wars in Iraq and so forth and that was The Intercept The Intercept came to yeah they did a piece on me The Intercept came to me and I'm thinking okay well you know it's not the New York Times right I mean they have a history of opposing the Deep state so I thought right and is this this isn't the publication that Glenn Greenwell exactly exactly so here's where I'm going with this is that Glenn Greenwall later came out and basically exposed the fact that he himself couldn't function at The Intercept which he co-founded because the thing had been infiltrated by intelligence people and deep state operatives right well that makes sense out of the story they eventually told about me because I went to them with the kind of information that I'm sharing with you and I shared documents with them I gave them letters that I I had exchanged with let's just say various intelligence people in the course of all these dealings and so I was giving them documentation of what had happened with me and I was expecting a story about you know some kind of international intelligence operation and you know a philosopher and activist who had gotten caught caught up in it and was ultimately targeted by it instead they published a personal hit piece on me with none of that information in it one like small paragraph saying georan claims X Y and Z but we haven't been able to corroborate whatever whatever and the rest of it was a uh basically mud smearing yellow journalism from The Intercept not long before Glenn

himself wow so you got a Target on your back yeah absolutely intelligence has a big Target on you absolutely that's unsettling what is that like how do you live with that you have to ignore it to the greatest extent possible and just just stay focused on positive goals right like so for example um after the involvement with the alt-right after my activism with the Iranian Renaissance which extended up to 2019 uh and by the way we we were planning a coup within the Islamic Republic um and it's when that didn't pan out that I resigned because there were certain there were certain of us how did you plan a coup yeah so here's the interesting thing there was this President of Iran Mahmud Ahmed NAD who became Infamous in the global media for being a Holocaust denier and he came and gave a number of controversial speeches here uh not just at the in his capacity as president but also a Columbia University and he was kind of a a cartoon character you know um supposedly very vehemently anti-israel and a representative of uneducated underclass people in Iran right and I had actually protested against him back in 200920 when he was president I became a human rights activist and a solidarity protest organizer uh who was tasked with lobbying the security council members of the UN to place sanctions on the regime in tan uh after this Ahmed Jad was fraudulently reelected so I was directly organizing protests against Ahmed dad back in 2009 which made it all the more ironic that in 2017 2018 when I was involved with these Iranian opposition people we found out that actually Mahmud Ahmed had this Guru um Rahe fandor mashi who was nominally his vice president but actually his Guru his like spiritual Guru and this uh esar masay had a very eclectic spiritual worldview which was well outside the parameters of Orthodox Shiite Islam and he believed in some kind of a neozor asrian Revival Revival of ancient Persian mysticism and a fusion of Iran's arean identity with shiaism and this mashai wanted to transition Iran out of an Islamic system and toward a nationalist one toward a more populist system okay that would be more in line with the the will of the Iranian people and their wish to reclaim their historical identity and most interestingly despite Ahmed being branded as a Holocaust denier in the mainstream media it turned out that mashi was actually favor of a secret dayon with the state of Israel so this became one of the reasons for my involvement with a a couple of the Mossad characters that I engaged with because the Israelis you know the Israelis have been talking about bombing Iran for a decade and no two decades I'm sorry two decades and at that time in particular there had been these very uh violent vigorous protests against the regime to the point where a lot of Iranians were even actually setting mosques on fire and burning qurans in the street and so forth wow yeah it's very po burning qurans is very popular in Iran today it's very popular so but they were burning mosques in these protests in 2017 20 2018 and the Israelis wanted to use this as a moment of opportunity to potentially come and bomb the nuclear sites and facilitate a regime change and at least back then I was very opposed to that I was opposed to any form of foreign military intervention in Iran I wanted to see the regime change at the hands of the Iranian people themselves we we wanted support it could be some material support definitely moral support but you know I wasn't for a military intervention so I'm hearing from inside the circle in Iran the circle of Ahmed and mashai that not only do they want to gradually transition out of the Islamic Republic and toward a more nationalist uh more Iranian style of government they're also open to a secret dayon with Israel like a you know under the table alliance with Israel where they basically share power in the Middle East and I conveyed this to the Israelis basically I took it upon myself to like go to the Israelis and be like that they wanted this yeah like listen we look if there's a coup in Iran if you see a coup all of a sudden in Iran and mmud Ahad winds up the new leader of the country not just president but like an CU in the Iranian Constitution the president has no power it's a dictatorship where the supreme leader does everything and the president is just basically like a you know a a a diversionary you know frontman okay and there was this coup plan to actually put Ahmed Jad and certain other people in power and my job was to convey to the Israelis that look he may sound like uh whatever you think Holocaust Den or whatever but there is a secret agenda to make a Deton with Israel and this is going to work out to your benefit so just sit tight right what did they say uh they were open to that they were there was a faction around defense minister avigor liberman who are actually they're quite Orthodox and because they're quite orthod Orthodox they put a lot of stock in this idea of Cyrus the Great as the Messiah of the Jews you know in the Old Testament um particularly in the book of Isaiah the only non-jew the only [unclear] who has ever identified as a mosiah or savior brought by God is Cyrus the Great the father of Iran whose tomb is a pilgrimage site today for many Iranian youth it's like the most sacred Iranians have turned their backs on Mecca and they bow toward the tomb of Cyrus the Great instead so they were very sympathetic to Iran as a land that is connected with their own spiritual Destiny and they also were I found rather shrewd and pragmatic in terms of working out an underthe table understanding with the Islamic Republic and I sent a letter to defense minister Lieberman which was conveyed by Apparent agents of Mossad and the way that I know that this letter reached him letter where I was saying basically please don't bomb Iran uh and look if you see a coup understand that even though it may have a nominally Aryan discourse that means something completely different in the context of our civilization as you well know since the father of our culture is Cyrus the Great you know y mosia so on and so forth and uh the way I know this letter reached defense minister liberman is that at a certain point Netanyahu kicked liberman out of the government and he took over the position of Defense Minister in addition to being prime minister which is very unusual there was a time when he was acting both as prime minister and he took over liberman's duties as defense minister and at that point they contacted me from Tel Aviv and said you need to rewrite your letter and address it to prime minister Netanyahu directly so it appears to have reached him anyway why did I why did I tell the story so did you do that no comment I wish him luck in in Gaza and I wish him luck in Lebanon so um why am I telling you this I'm telling you this because you ask who in Iran right so we had this plan where um they came and they told us that about onethird Believe It or Not of the Armed Forces of Iran including the Islamic revolutionary guard core who are supposed to be like the petorian guard most loyal to the regime one-third of the Armed Forces in Iran were supposedly ready to turn and this didn't mean the two-thirds were for the regime a lot of them were undecided and in disarray mhm and there was this faction around Mas and ahed who had the underclass who had like basically you know workers and people on welfare and so on and so forth and the reason they reached out to us is that they said that the people in our Circle could represent the intellectual Elite the basically the intelligencia of Iranian society and that they needed um uh they needed such people in a coalition if they were to be successful because the intelligencia would not follow Ahmed NAD and mashai and so my associates were made this proposal and they decided not to take it they decided not to to accept this offer and I became very frustrated by that and that's why I ultimately resigned from that organization you know the Iranian Renaissance because frankly even as a as a native born American a native New Yorker I was ready to get on a plane and go to tan and potentially face execution to be part of this coup attempt they were not because they had cushy jobs in various Industries like the oil industry and so forth and I think ultimately their lives were just too comfortable to risk something like that and in the end they went in with people who were more connected to let's say you know intelligence Services here and lobbyists in Washington and so on and so forth yeah that that was another question I had what was um America's position on

coup we found vice president p to be very sympathetic um the problem with Trump was that John Bolton was his national uh security um adviser and John Bolton is connected to believe it or not I know this sounds crazy an islamist Marxist terrorist group that's been fighting a civil war against the Islamic Republic since the 1980s so there were these people in the early early 1980s who had been part of the Revolutionary Coalition that overthrew the shaw right they were the muscle behind the Islamic revolution but there were more Marxist maoist types okay that tried to fuse like a chavara style leftism with Islam and in 1983 or so in the middle of the Iran Iraq war they defected to the side of Saddam Hussein and they formed what is essentially a uh terroristic cult with like a North Korea style you know know cult of personality and closed atmosphere right in Iraq and later they were kicked out of Iraq and they wound up rebasing themselves in Albania of all places anyway John Bolton was in their pocket and John Bolton was the one advising Trump on Iran so uh they had a monopoly on Trump's vision for regime change in Iran which meant that despite that uh Pence was sympathetic to some extent we had very little latitude to be able to influence a Washington policy whoa deeply entrenched in this stuff you were yes how and what from a guy who born and raised in New York philosopher you're willing to go fight and get be executed for this regime change in Iran why did you feel so strongly about this why uh did Tom Payne go to Paris you know after um playing a tremendously successful role in catalyzing the American Revolution I mean if you look I'm trained in philosophy he was a corset maker I mean the guy the guy made underwear women's underwear for a living but he wrote great books and he was certainly a First Rate thinker if you read you know uh the Age of Reason the Rights of Man books that Tom Payne wrote in prison in Paris after he went and enlisted in the French Revolution and almost got himself guillotined right he wrote those books thinking that he was facing a certain death sentence I mean rather the uh the Age of Reason he did which tears the Bible to pieces in his book The Age of Reason Tom Payne argues that the United States Constitution is fundamentally incompatible with Christianity or rather that you know a population that believes in the Bible cannot constitute a good citizenry for the United States and he writes this book in in prison and Par this is why he's not on Mount Rushmore which he should be he's like the black sheep among the founding fathers um they all thought that he said publicly what many of them thought privately a little too often anyway my point is this that look um you can be a thinker who has all kinds of idealistic aspirations for how you want to see the world change and you can elaborate um very Transcendent and inspiring principles uh to try to recalibrate the direction of society but unless you're willing to get your hands dirty and stake your life on it um you know who knows whether your vision will ever materialize or who in the wake of your inevitable death someday might misappropriate your vision right to create some kind of a tyrannical system I mean this is what happened with Marx Marx would never have endorsed the Soviet Union right so maybe Mark should have been more of an activist during his own Lifetime right what was it inherent in you that made you explore all these deep thoughts and and what is your this might be a stupid question but what is like your process when you are writing about this stuff okay there's a lot of questions there that's a very compound question so first of all I think it's a number of of things uh that you know made me the Thinker that I am I had certain intellectual interests from the get-go even in my teenage years uh in looking on the one hand at the religious history of mankind and on the other hand at cuttingedge developments in The Sciences

boundary uh defy Paradigm defying um breakthroughs in The Sciences and seeing you know how science and religion could be reconciled that was an an very early intellectual interest of mine at let's say 15 16 years old I was on the one hand reading the physicist David B uh the biologist rert sheldrake um uh Michael Talbot and his theory of the holographic universe and on the other hand I was reading you know the bhad Gita the doubted CH and you know various other you know the Sufi texts and um spiritual Treasures of human history so this question of the relationship between science and religion was one that I had on a theoretical level from a very early age but then also I had experiences that shaped my thinking you know uh what kind of experiences I I write about the Paranormal in a very abstract way and with a view to developing novel philosophical Concepts that can help us to understand why you know what we take to be reality works the way that it does but I've also had personal experiences of what you might call you know the Paranormal and they started you know fairly early on right so at the same time that uh I was reading you know um Edge science like Bowman sheldrake on the one hand and reading uh Indian and Persian mystical texts and and DST scriptures I also had a near-death experience when I was I think actually 14 um I was at a a uh Sleepaway summer camp in Amherst at Amherst College it was like a prep schoolsummer Camp type of thing and one night uh I think it was probably around 2 o'clock in the morning um asleep in my bed and I notice that my heart is beating I'm asleep but I become aware of the fact that I'm sleeping and there's no sensory stimuli whatsoever it's just Blackness and I become aware of my heartbeat and it gets slower and slower until it stops and when my heart stopped I felt myself shoot out of my body not through the crown of my head you know people talk about Crown chakra or whatever but it was actually through my feet that I left my body and I uh was pulled into this voidness which I don't know you know it's it's really almost Indescribable it's ineffable but it was like a a bluish black seething Dynamic energy that was at the same time a void and it felt like it would annihilate my whole Persona that I would be swallowed by this and when I went into this Vortex I saw my own death in the future now uh let me be very careful to to to make this point here that one strong line of argument throughout all of my philosophical work is against any kind of determinism okay and I make a very strong case that we have free will or or at least some degree of significant agency and intentionality this we can come back to my argument against God this is one of the reasons why I reject the idea of an all- knowing and all powerful God because I think that that very idea is inimical to an affirmation of our Free Will so you know I don't think anything is faded there's no future that's faded and I can tell you some interesting stories that remote fed can you what you that what does that mean there's no such thing as fate the future fate okay there's no such thing as fate we're not fated to live anything in the future and I can tell you interesting stories from some of the remote viewers I've known like for example I'll tell you a story about um the time when Lynn Buchanan was hired to see the next 9/11 after 911 happened and how he actually changed that timeline but we'll come back to that you said you saw your own death yes so I saw my own death in the future and I don't want to say too much about this because I you know I don't want to give anyone any ideas but basically it was in the context I have to say disturbingly enough of a second American Civil War and I was not old and I saw my death and uh after that I came back to the room and I tell you the the closet in front of me was open the two closet doors were open and I I'm not a fearful person as you might gather from some of the things I've told you already uh I I don't scare easily but looking into the darkness of that closet at 2:30 in the morning or whatever it was after I came out of this experience I felt like the Blackness of that closet was going to swallow me and I could not stand for another minute being in that room so I got up and I went down the hall to my friend's room and this this guy he had come to this summer camp with me but he had been my best friend for many years and he was a few doors down and I wake him up and I sit down next to him and he slowly wakes up and as soon as he looks at me he looks into my eyes and he gets the most terrified expression on his face that I've ever seen on another person and he goes back under his covers and he won't come out and I notice I'm already flipped out myself I'm coming there looking for some consolation and this is how my best friend reacts so I find myself repeatedly saying to the guy it's just me it's just me what are you doing why are you reacting like this it's just me and he comes out from under the covers and slowly very hesitantly peers at me and then F and I say to him what the hell was that why' you react like that and he said it was your eyes they weren't your eyes and it was like you were looking right through my soul so then we're sitting there and now it's almost 3:00 in the morning right and somebody knocks on the window Amherst College middle nowhere Massachusetts Small Town 3:00 in the morning knock on the window and at first we're like really freaked out and we don't want to even pull the curtain aside to see who the hell this might be but they keep knocking and we do and there's this guy standing out there in the dark with a giant instrument case like I don't know violin case or some kind of you know Musical and he says do you know the way to the opera house and I go to him this is a college what opera house what are you talking about this is a college and he goes like this to me and we close the curtains and that was that so that happened when I was 14 how did you so how did you die did you think you you had a your heart actually stopped all I can tell you is was just some sort of crazy dream look and no it was not a dream it was definitely not a dream uh all I can tell you is as we say in philosophy phenomenologically speaking right being very attentive to what I actually experienced at the time it felt like my heart stopped would there was there any reason that would have happened did you take anything no no no no I didn't take any drugs or anything like that no no now the other possibility is this that look there are phenomena where there's a kind of dilation of Consciousness where your sense of the passage of time changes dramatically and one possibility dilation of Consciousness yeah so like you can you know when you're in very intense States Of Consciousness time flows differently for you yes you don't notice how many hours have gone by and you're completely immersed in something

and it's possible that what actually was happening is that my my sense of time warped to where it slowed down to where I actually my Consciousness sank into the space between two heartbeats that feeling as if my heartbeat were getting slower and slower was actually uh my experience of the passage of time changing but in any case it it basically was this nde where I left my body and I saw this um precognitive vision of my death and uh and I'm sure that that acted as a significant Catalyst like a lightning bolt to you know to further um intensify my interest in you know these Edge science subjects and religious scriptures and so forth that I was reading at the time already did you write about this after it happened no um I mean first of all it was Unforgettable so I didn't need to write it down I write a lot of things down but this was so Unforgettable I couldn't write it down I didn't need to write it down but here's the interesting thing is is that I couldn't even talk to anybody about this I tried to tell a couple people about this and again I said I am not a person who scares easily but the emotional impact of this event was such that whenever I tried to tell anybody about it I just felt like I was going to start weeping so I I couldn't talk about it for a long time and you said it was in the context of an American Civil War and you were not old yes there was a American Civil War there was massive or some kind of just massive Urban upheaval Uprising in this country and I was I was dead in that context let's just say not to get into the details and the situation our country doesn't look too good right now how much have you thought about that I've thought about it quite a bit but you know I don't I don't want to be morbidly preoccupied with it one has to focus on positive projects and and concrete goals right but let me tell you I brought up in the course of that story um this example of uh how it is that we have free will and that we can shift timelines and why nothing is inevitable I was sitting in Lyn Buchanan's living room few years back you know he was the chief trainer for the entire CIA remote viewing program he's the guy who trained all the other guys yeah I was going to I was going to say Joe mcmonagle also saw his own death didn't he yes that's right that's right so Lynn was in involved with Joe mcmonagle and project Stargate and he was there through the changing of hands of the program from the CIA to the dod and he was the guy responsible for training the other Ace remote viewers and he told me that I believe it was sometime after he had already yeah he had already retired and he was doing a private corporate Consulting so companies they still come to him companies come to him and ask him to do remote viewing for them and so this is what he was doing but the government actually came back to him sometime in the early 2000s I forget whether it was 2003 2004 somewhere in there and they said to him we want you to remote view the next 911 we want to know what the next terrorist attack against the United States on that scale is going to be when is this by the way early 2000s early 2000s yeah I forget the exact year so probably right after 911 yeah exactly they came to him and they said look we want we understand you're retired but you know do us a favor and uh remote view the next 9911 for us and he did he put a team together and they remote viewed this event and they said Islamic terrorists were going to approach the United States in boats that were full of um biological agents that it was going to be a horrendous biowarfare attack on the Southeastern Seaboard of the United States so like in an area between I think like the Carolinas and like Georgia like that area right and he said they were going to come in on these boats and these once they got to the coast they were going to release this biological contagion and it would be far worse than 911 tens and tens of thousands of people would die and he was able to give them the date down to the day of when this was going to happen so here's what happens on that day the Coast Guard goes out and they intercepted these ships these ships were coming to the United States and they did have these biological agents on them and they were intercepted and these people around this recorded I could understand why if this happened it would be classified but this is what he told me that he got confirmation that he had been correct and that based on the intelligence he provided the terrorists were intercepted and you know when when was this day uh I don't think he told me the date I don't you know a year I don't remember I he did tell me the year but it was in the early 2000s and this is what we talk and so here's my point is that he saw this event take place vividly it's a clear precognition of the future so clear he was able to volunteer the date but he changed the timeline so this is uh you know empirical evidence for the ontological fact that we have free will or some degree of intentionality and agency that nothing is faded how so how how so in the sense that look if for example you're me and you see your own death it doesn't necessarily have to happen that way you can change the course of events that leads to oh I see what you're saying because they were able to intercept them that that that's to you and this has happened many times look the remote viewers used um precognitive remote viewing routinely in order to engage in uh hostage rescue attempts when like for example American hostages were taken um prisoner in Lebanon in the 1980s and so forth they would routinely try to see the future movement of hostages and things like that so they could send people to intercept them and retrieve them at certain places yeah this is something I've read about in Annie Jacob for I first read about it in Annie's book uh phenomena yeah yeah where she uh she talks to um Edgar Mitchell going back from then he talks about he did this like secret experiment coming back to the from the Moon seeing if he could um do some sort of telekinesis or remote viewing on his way back and um you know it's interesting too all of this science this uh sort of squishy science she calls it science that can't be replicated in a laboratory right it's not it's not uh duplicatable and it's hard to measure um it all came from the Nazis yes okay so two very interesting subjects uh let's start with the heart to measure right and here we're we're getting into the meat of my work you know my actual philosophical ideas I would push back on the fact that it's hard to measure um there are all kinds of Sciences and one of the most misguided things that scientists try to do irrespective of which discipline they're in is to hold uh every science to the standard of rigor that obtains in physics right the scientific method no well look but look there's a scientific method in sociology too there's a scientific method in Psychology too it doesn't mean that the Dynamics of somebody's personal psychology or uh the evolution of various societies and you know what it is that produces social crises or what it is that uh you know what conditions are likely to lead to the collapse of government are phenomena that as predictable as you know Atomic physics right right so depending on what domain you're studying different standards of rigor are appropriate not everything is equally amenable to you know mathematical modeling and prediction right right and in so far as Sai is a human ability just like sports ability or like the virtuoso Talent of musicians human beings are not mechanical Contraptions you're not going to be able to predict their behavior with the same standard that you know you can predict I don't know um rocket trajectories in Newtonian physics it's absurd to expect that so different Sciences have methodologies that are appropriate to The Domain that they're researching absolutely right and Sai is a phenomenon to some extent of biology but to a great extent of psychology right and you you should never expect uh the kind of repeatability that you have in physics and chemistry in the domain of parapsychology research but I think a bigger problem is that you know the Sciences always operate within the context of one or another Paradigm right so you have hypotheses that are testable and in any given scientific theory there are a number of hypotheses that come together to form that theory but various scientific theories are also only possible in the context of a paradigm which is an overarching framework of assumptions of basic assumptions that Orient your perspective on things in general it's like a theoretical framework not the pre- theoretical a pretheoretical framework of abstract thought that defines what questions are even being asked to begin with and what's being marginalized as outside the scope of inquiry it's like a narrowed perspective on one or another domain MH and this defines what theories can even be elaborated in the first place Thomas [unclear] in his uh book the structure of scientific Revolutions in the 1960s he made this argument that scientific paradigms are radically political that the that the revolutions that take place in the history of science the cernic Revolution and physics the darwinian revolution are as political as political revolutions and that the reason why groups of scientists in one or another period invest in um a particular Paradigm and uh the way in which these paradigms get entrenched and limit the kinds of questions that are even asked and the kinds of subjects that are researched it's thoroughly political it's motivated by the same uh psychological Dynamics as people's commitment to one or another political ideology greed it's a huge part of it that's huge because funding you know you don't get funding in various um you know areas of scientific research unless you're conforming to the established criteria for what's legitimate to research or not right and unless you're working with an already established set of theories right so you have for example in physics today this fundamental contradiction between einsteinian relativity and quantum theory mhm and you know in the UFO subject it's a very hotly debated issue uh of whether there's a third Theory that's going to there's whether there's a third Theory that's going to Encompass both uh relativity and quantum theory and give us a working knowledge of gravity that would allow um you know Zero Point Energy propulsion that would allow electrogravitic propulsion right but one of the things that I argue in my philosophical works is that it's a mistake to think that scientific theories are meant to accurately represent some objectively existing reality that scientific theories are like mirrors where all you need to do is Polish the mirror well enough and you're going to get a reflection of structures that exist in nature so that we assume that relativity is an imperfect mirror and quantum theory is an imperfect mirror and there's some other theoretical mirror that's going to reconcile these two that's going to give us a more adequate reflection of the nature of reality right and it's going to afford US the Breakthrough to electrogravitic propulsion I think that's mistaken theories I argue coming from out of [unclear] Vicken Stein Heidegger other people in the history of philosophy and science theories are toolkits they're tool boxes they have an ultimately practical significance a scientific theory is only as good as what we can do with it which by the way is why string theory was such a con job in the last 20 years right string theory is this elaborate mathematical formalism which has absolutely no practical significance and it has really no testability either and I think probably the thing was developed as a ruse to move mainstream researchers away from any kind of research trajectory that would lead to cracking quantum gravity yeah who do you think was behind

ruse aliens um no no uh have you seen that show that new show three body problem yeah I have fascinating how they're on their way here and they're trying to sub subvert our scient our science on good it was good aesthetically some of the storytelling was good I had a couple of really big problems with it yeah one was that what is this like you know less than light speed travel you know these people don't have Zero Point Energy these yeah what the hell is that I mean we have in locked right now there are craft that can go to Mars in a few hours right now in locked and this show is talking about like we're the aliens are traveling at certain percentages of the speed of light that was one problem I had with it is the engineering and physics the other problem I had is the whole show took place within the context of a very reductionist materialist Paradigm that did not uh acknowledge Sai didn't acknowledge ESP and psychokinesis and the fact that these aliens would probably have these abilities you you know to a much greater degree than terrestrial Humanity right so so these were you know some plot points that I had a problem with but it was entertaining for sure what did you think about those uh those sofon those protons that were quantumly entangled to help us you're saying that they wouldn't have needed those they would have been able to use some sort of telekinesis or or psycho well the soons I if I'm not mistaken if I remember correctly um in that show were portrayed as a form of artificial intelligence that they were like Nano machines that were working based on the kind of artificial intelligence right and what I think is

um even the artificial intelligence systems that we're developing now at open Ai and Google and so forth are demonstrating cability and this is one of the things that's being covered up by the engineers they're terrified of it they don't understand it and they're trying to uh pass it off as bugs and glitches in the system but really they're encountering Sai in the context of Laboratory R&D on AI which by the way is something that I predicted in my book prometheism which was written in 2020 I predicted exactly this that highlevel big budget AI research would eventually provide the final validation of parapsychological phenomena and that what I call the spectral Revolution you know like the cernic revolution darwinian revolution the spectral Revolution that makes parapsychology mainstream is going to come about not in a Paras psychology rep uh laboratory but in a really well-funded AI R&D program and that's in fact what's happening so how do you know what they have at uh at JPL how do you know they have not JPL locked locked how do you know that locked has this technology that we can get to Mars in a couple hours so I know a guy who has been to one of these facilities I don't think I should mention who he is but he is let's say not Jack sarfati I'm sorry Jack no disrespect love you jack yeah yeah um there's a reason that guy hasn't been dealt in okay the reverse I mean not the least of which is that he goes out and publicly advertises everything that anyone ever tells him so you know I don't think that I don't think that locked or or uh Northrup or anyone would be willing to dealt any of these reverse engineering programs but I know this guy who um was involved in the intelligent military intelligence at a high level and actually I know two people two different people who've been to uh this facility and they say that you know you know locked has I think some some Assets in Nevada but they have a lot of corporate facilities in California in the state of California and supposedly there is this um Shack on the side of a highway in California that looks like some non-descript Warehouse small warehouse and you go into this warehouse and the whole floor of the warehouse is an elevator and it drops Lord knows how many hundreds of feet and you're inside of a uh basically a facility carved out of rock deep underground and what this guy said is that they are not only reverse engineering U craft from uh retriev debris in this facility but they're actually training Pilots to fly them and he told me that the main problem that they have in that training program is that the pilots experience extreme disorientation because of the the warping of SpaceTime by these craft in other words they discovered early on and this is I think one of the main reasons and we can get into this in in much more depth if you if you want this is one of the main reasons this technology is being hidden because they discovered very early on that these are not simply devices with propulsion systems capable of navigating space very quickly like they can take you from New York to Australia and you know right they're flying time machines they warp time as they Traverse space right right and our Pilots don't know how to handle that they have a very hard time they get disoriented temporally disoriented they get like their sense of the passage of time gets really messed with how do you know this wasn't just some sort of intelligence agent or intelligence operative trying to uh disseminate some wacky information like the other guy well if I were to tell you who it was I think most people uh wouldn't think that um but all I can tell you that's the problem with this whole topic that is the fundamental problem with this whole UFO top because so many people have such crazy outlandish claims and every single one of them almost all the almost every single time they're saying that this person they can't divulge where they got the information who the person is and that's why this topic has been so frustrating for me I'll tell you a dinner who he is okay so um he was but I I tell you this he was an extremely salt of thee person uh and he was involved in the in the military intelligence Community for decades and um anyway I I'll just leave it at that but one of the funny things is he showed me this model that they had been using back in the 19 it looked like maybe it was something from the 60s to teach these Pilots how much time dilation there is per the amount of space that they've traversed in these vehicles it was like some kind of a gyroscopic device and it showed that if you Traverse you know this much distance in space there's this much dilation in time and the reason he had this thing is because it was Antiquated it was like from the 60s and they weren't using it anymore they had ripped it out and it was like a an heirloom you know and they basically gave it to him as a Keepsake so which I found interesting but and I tried to take a picture of it but he picked it up and took it away from me uh so anyway he told me he went down into this facility and that the reverse engineering stuff and that they're trying to train pilots in how to fly these reverse reverse engineered Zero Point Energy craft but okay what's the really important thing about that is that on a theoretical level I've written extensively in closer encounters uh about how UFOs are actually time machines and if you really stop and think through that carefully you realize why under the current sociopolitical conditions this technology can't be released with the kind of Society we have domestically globally with the state that humanity is in uh at the present time the release of that kind of Technology into the public sphere would be utterly catastrophic right I mean you can't give Tom dickan Harry a time machine to put in their garage you see that's the thing it's not like these are Jetson's cars that just you know fly you across country really fast they allow you to Traverse different epochs in human history and I think one of the reasons that our history is so messed up you know when you look at these uh really regressive tyrannical religious belief systems and the kinds of political structures that formed around them and that were fortified by them I think a lot of what's going on there is that our timeline has been manipulated it's been manipulated at all junctures from the present far into the future right so the technological singularity is this moment when you have a convergent advancement of all kinds of Technologies from genetic engineering to nanotech to artificial intelligence cybernetics and so forth and they Advance they start to advance exponentially so that it's no longer a curve slowly sloping up right it becomes a spike on a graph the curve becomes a spike there's such an acceleration in the velopment of these Technologies and any one of them facilitates breakthroughs in the others at such a speed where all of them converge in a way that the human mind is no longer capable of wrapping itself around and we call it a singularity or a spike on the graph of the history of human technological development because past that Spike we can't project anymore from the past into the future it's a limit on our human capacity to project what future developments may take place place on the other side of that Singularity right and so for example today you're seeing uh AI crack problems in genetic engineering in gene sequencing and crack problems in nanotechnological engineering that we've never been able to um work our way through and so all of these things are are reinforcing each other and within about you know 10 to 20 years from now the kind of Zero Point Energy that

that means the disintegration of our current social fabric okay I want to go there there there's a whole Rabbit Hole to explore on on that question itself and how that relates to society and globalism and all that um but before that you you were talking about you you you said that Lockheed has possession of this machine that can do this that can manipulate time and they are going forward in time and manipulating the timeline who is doing doing this I hope block isn't doing it no I wasn't trying to suggest that they are well who how do you know that this timeline is being manipulated how do you know that and and who do you think is doing it there is a researcher Michael Creo who wrote a book with a guy called Richard Thompson Thompson's a PhD in I forget which scientific field um and the book was called Forbidden Archaeology it's a to it's about this thick it's in the same general area same general of research as Graham Hancock and Robert baval and Robert shock people who study yeah deep history you know prehistory archaeological remains from prehistory the challenge are accepted views of the historical timeline right except Creo and Thompson's work in

Forbidden Archaeology is more radical in so far as they go through the history of scientific journals back into the 1800s and they show how many discoveries there were reported by very prestigious publications of clearly engineered structures and artificial objects stuck in geological strata that are millions of years old like polished concrete walls in a stratum that dates to I don't know 200 million years ago or gold chains jewelry that's uh at a stratum geological stratum of 60 million years ago there are tens and tens of these discoveries that they present in this book that were in prominent scientific journals and then slowly in the 20th century were filtered out of what it was acceptable to publish given what became the standard uh human history taught in the acmy mhm so there are a couple of different ways you could look at that one is you could imagine that even though there's not much of a fossil record for it Humanity goes back hundreds of millions of years on this planet I doubt that very much because again there isn't the fossil record for we find dinosaur bones all the time we don't find large populations of humans that are contemporaneous with you know the Jurassic period the other way that you could interpret those findings though is that human Time Travelers on a very limited basis were uh living in those epochs and left artifacts behind so that's one piece of empiric one line of empirical evidence that you could use to argue for time travel so you're saying that this could have been happening in the 1800s no no what I'm saying is that up to the 1800s these things were reported on in scientific journals right like up to the 1800s you had like uh I don't know Smithsonian institution and whatever reporting on a gold locket found in a geological stratum that dates to 60 million BC right there are lots of these finds but we don't know about those anymore we have those journals we have access to those journals we still have access to absolutely my point is Creo and Thompson they wrote this to Forbidden Archaeology where they go through all of this evidence they present case after case and they have their own interpretation of what this means okay because they come from a kind of vidonic yeah that's the book they come from a kind of vidonic background uh you know they they they subscribe to form of vitic religion and in the you know in the Hindu religion there is the notion that there are these vast cycles of time they call them yugas the the ages right and we're in the last of them now supposedly the K Yuga but the whole cycle begins with the SATA Yuga the Golden Age and then it goes to a silver age and the Greeks had the same thing Silver age Bronze Age until you get to our present time which is supposed to be the last of the world ages and this whole cycle then repeats itself so Creo and Thompson come from the school of thought that look Humanity has always existed and we are living in a fallen World we're living in a degraded age and we're we've lost our knowledge of previous ages of higher civilization and they think this goes way way back like that Humanity existed in its present form tens and tens of millions of years ago uh I don't agree with their interpretation of their own evidence I think that that's a religious belief system which they subscribe to and my much more radically empiricist pragmatic approach to the data they're presenting is to say the best way to make sense out of this is that these artifacts were left behind by human Time Travelers and that the past is contaminated by the future wow this is F this is one of the reasons why or one of the the ways this is sort of the opp sorry to interrupt this is sort of the opposite GR Hancock's idea is that there was a crazy Advanced civilization that got wiped out by comets and we hit a reset button you're saying this advant civilization was from the future exactly I started reading Graham Hancock when I was maybe 15 uh I read all of the books that he had published you know back then in the in the late

Hancock uh or on the other hand UFO researchers whether they're coming from a physics background or you know um I don't know from a an from a sociology background or whatever is that they stay only within their own research domain and they don't look at what's going on in other field they're not interdisciplinary enough and my work has been radically interdisciplinary from the beginning so I've been able to cross-correlate different bodies of data and one of the things that Graham Hancock talks about which I find very compelling is the evidence for Antarctica having been Atlantis in his first book Fingerprints of the Gods where he's drawing from the earlier research of uh Rand fth um he makes this and Charles hapgood Flo's work was dependent on this historian Charles hapgood who I think taught at Boston knowlege back in the day and hapg good had this theory that and by the way hapg good worked with the CIA for a time so he was like a government funded scientist and hapgood had this theory that to oversimplify it in the course of the various ice ages the Earth becomes topheavy MH and at a certain point the ice sheet pulls on the mantle of the earth yeah and it causes it to slip rather it causes the surface of the Earth to slip over The Mantel like this loose skin of an orange mhm and that uh in some cyclical fashion every I don't know maybe 12,000 years or so shift well there's a shifting of the pole in the sense that by 3 or 4,000 kilometers the location of the pole shifts not like drastically like the Earth flips over or anything like that by a few thousand kilometers which means that uh you know let's say Circa 12,000 years ago 10,500 BC or so the younger drest period Antarctica would have been mostly where Argentina is today and had mostly the climate of of uh Argentina today except one side of Antarctica would have been already inside the polar South polar region and we have evidence for this because apparently in Antarctica the ice sheet is not thickest where you'd expect it would be right at the South Pole the ice sheet is thickest in the part of Antarctica that would already have been in the South Pole prior to the slippage of the crust right because it was the place where you know there was already massive snowfall and so forth see so and we also have evidence for this in Siberia in terms of this flash flooding and then freezing of the mammoths who they froze so quickly that they have undigested food in their stomachs right that's where the flower the younger D flower right so but here's where I'm going with this is that I think there's a lot of compelling evidence for the fact that Atlantis or whatever we want to call this civilization that Plato writes about Plato says it was destroyed 9,000 years before his time which lines up with uh you know Hancock and baval and Robert shock yeah because 12,000 years ago the three pyramids on the Giza plat line up perfectly with the three stars of Orion's Belt and the Sphinx is looking at it counterpart the constellation of Leo as it rises into the sky the dawn uh yeah at the dawn on the Spring Equinox exactly so that gives us a timestamp for when the Giza Plateau monuments were planned right but no here here's where I'm going with it it's somewhere much more interesting that has to do with time travel if Atlantis was Antarctica and they had such a high level of civilization right how high a level how high a level look at the Balck platform in Lebanon the stones in the pyramid the Great Pyramid which we still can't figure out how the hell these things were moved and positioned they're in the hundreds of ton range the biggest ones are in hundreds of tons at balbec in Lebanon there is a platform which consists of three 1,300 ton Stones they're 1,200 to to 300 tons a piece yeah we've we we've gone over the can you pull up those B they are raised on top of a 40ft platform of smaller megaliths right which like who does that I mean if you're going to drag Stones this big wouldn't you use them as the foundation course and then put smaller stones on top no these people apparently decided to show off by lifting these 1,300 ton Stones these trons and putting them on top of smaller right megalithic stones and again just like a Giza just like at um uh tiwanaku in Bolivia just like at uh various sites in Peru look is that is that is that one yeah well yeah look that one that's just by itself the second one in the middle yeah with the red lines yeah zoom on that yes but yeah but I want you to go back to the other one too yeah you can see the scale of a person next to those look at the the one above there how smaller person is next to those go up yeah look at that look at the scale of that but if you could go back to that one that was buried oh the the um yeah okay right there okay now that is in the Quarry where these Stones came from yeah that quarry is 50 mil away from the site yes 50 miles how did they take 1,300 ton Stone you know 19 cranes of the highest industrial grade that we have today can't lift and move one of these they've done the the engineering uh calculations how did they move that thing 50 Mi you know why that's buried there because they wanted to tell us that that's where the Quarry was and that they've somehow managed to move that stone 50 miles to build the platform at belbeck all right here's my point that gives you a sense of the level of engineering capability of this civilization it's beyond ours Way Beyond ours Way Beyond ours the problem is there's no saw blades or toasters or anything in the desert out there and there's no large scale evidence for this civilization other than these megalithic structures in various places in the world you know where I think there's going to be a jackpot of a plethora of evidence for it under the ice of Antarctica and here's where I'm going with this if you're a civilization that advanced why do you isolate yourself to Antarctica why would you do that right you tell me any thoughts why you would do something like that why you have this level of Technology right and after the cataclysm you go around the world and you build these various megalithic sites which which leave a record of the level of your technical achievement how do we know it was after the cataclysm well we know Giza was after the cataclysm we do yeah I mean the ground plan dates to 10,500 BC and if you line that up with Plato and you line it up with the end of the Ice Age and the massive flooding it's just after that cataclysm that that site was built also you're talking about the Great Pyramid yes well the three pyramids and the Sphinx and there are other structures like the osirian at abidos in Egypt that are all in the same style they're all in this Anonymous High Precision megalithic style what did you say was the evidence that it happened 10,000 BC well the Giza ground plan like we were just talking about the Giza ground plan yeah the alignment of the three stars of Orion of the three stars of Orion's belt with the three pyramids and the alignment of the Sphinx with its counterpart on the horizon that gives us an astrological date of the age of Leo yes and that happens to be right after the great flood took place right through the melting of the ice sheets between 12,900 years ago and like yeah there's like a thousand year period there in the younger D exactly and this is again also when Plato tells us Atlantis was destroyed but if you go to uh South America the Mayans also say that the people who built these megalithic structures the people of quel quatal mhm that the people of The Feathered Serpent they came there after the great flood that's what they say and they started making these constructions there and teaching the locals Agriculture and uh trying to restart civilization in various ways so it also aligns with what the myths tell us now my question is this if you have that level of Technology why would you isolate yourself to Antarctica Antarctica is a place that's completely isolated think about it right all the oceans of the world the atan paciic Indian they meet around Antarctica and it's sort hidden away from all the other continents of the planet to the extent that we did not Discover it until like the 1800s except of course it's on a few anomalous Maps the per rise map andus Phineas map and so on so forth but we didn't find in in our modern Western Civilization we didn't find the damn continent until the 1800 they think it was safer there here's what I think if they were Time Travelers they needed to isolate themselves from the timeline if you were coming from the year 201200 or the year 3500 and for whatever reason you needed to reach back into the deep past of humanity right let's say Earth suffer some horrendous cataclysm or let's say they fought a war with an enemy that vanquished them and their only retreat was backwards in time to hide in time you might be motivated by some kind of you know Noble intention not to mess with the human timeline to the extent that you can avoid it and initially you might decide to quarantine yourself to a place where you're not going to be observed by the other evolving societies on Earth and Antarctica would be the ideal place from which to do that on

planet wow so I think under that ice in Antarctica we're going to find the jackpot it's not going to be like these scattered megalithic sites we're going to find cities under under those ice sheets do you think they're still here yes I do I do I think that you do absolutely absolutely I think that this is what the UFO phenomenon is about I mean this is a whole long conversation which I've written a a toome about my book closer encounters what do you think those Tic Tac things are that the the pilots are saying do you think was made by lock do you think it's the lock stuff the Tic Tac in particular the Tic Tac has this little thing underneath it has this little uh antenna or something it does yes it's not this perfectly smooth uh Tic Tac that you know people keep repeating ad nauseum in this did frer explain an antenna I don't remember him saying anything about there's there's a thing that comes out the bottom of it it's there's two things there's a thing at the top and the bottom you can see right there it has a thing that comes it's not it's a reverse engineered craft which I think was being demonstrated um to test on on the new radar that they were putting in their yes that these naval fleets were uh exposed to this technology to test the capabilities of the fleet but I think also to demonstrate this technology to our adversaries that you know this was a a performance put on for Putin and for China to send them the message that hey you know we have reached this level of Technology don't mess with us wow and you think the civilization is still here yeah so one of the big problems I have with the Contemporary disclosure uh agenda or these various rival agendas for disclosure that we see in the public sphere right now is the use of the term non-human intelligence I think that this is extremely duplicitous and misleading uh what do you mean non-human intelligence right if you actually look at close encounter reports going back many decades you see predominantly either uh what have been called the Grays which are these short statured 4 foot tall bulbous headed entities right with the big black eyes and spindly arms and so forth um or you see uh what some people have called nordics because they're very tall Scandinavian looking people there are slight differences in their physiology but basically they could pass for like a Swedish supermodel and they kind of have the physique of Olympic swimmers they're between uh 6'5 and 8 ft tall these are the two types that you see and sometimes you see them very tellingly together like for example in Travis Walton's case when Travis Walton in the 1970s um wound up being I think he was inadvertently injured by this UFO that he approached and they basically beamed him up right and repaired him to try to repair him first he was handled by the grays and he had the impression I think correctly that they're robots they're cyborgs they're cybernetic organisms yeah he said he bumped one it was like really light and like flew across the room right so they use this the nordics use these cyborgs oh it's like their little slaves yeah well as they're robots I mean who would want to handle abductees directly right I mean you're going to Outsource all of the most aggravating work to these cybernetic organisms uh Walton then subsequently bumped into these nordics themselves once he tried to escape that situation where he's been handled by the Grays yeah explained she had hair they looked more human he encountered several different ones and they all he said interestingly they looked like they could all have been members of the same family they were so similar to each other in their appearance and there were all these Scandinavian looking people and these are the same entities that were reported by George adamsky back in the 50s uh George hunt Williamson um uh what's his name uh um George Van Tassel the guy who had that big H the house under big rock which became then a monument for all these UFO cultists in later decades uh not familiar with that yeah it's a monument out in the middle of the desert um in California and he built this structure there called something like the Integratron based on principles he claims that the nordics taught him and supposedly if you go inside this thing like rejuven Ates you I don't know a whole UFO cult formed around it wow but point being beginning all the way back in the 1950s with these various contes and extending up to Travis Walton and into multiple cases that you can find in the 80s in Britain for example you predominantly see these two types either these cyborgs or you see nordics what about the prag mantis well that's a very interesting phenomenon that I discuss in uh my book close encounters where I postulate that in the UFO phenomenon we are dealing or let's say UAP you know in this uh uh unidentified anomalous phenomena spectrum that we're presented with you're dealing basically with two different types of entities or two different sources of the phenomenon one is much more tangible and that I think involves humanoid Time Travelers people who are from a post Singularity civilization right at some point they reached the level of technology that we're going to be reaching in the next 20 to 30 years with the convergence of Biotech nanotech artificial intelligence and the uh you know rigorous research and understanding of our own Laten sigh abilities because one thing that you see across all of the close encounter reports is that these entities are extremely telepathic they communicate with all the contes or abductees telepathically so clearly their civilization has achieved a Mastery of what we call Sai phenomena or psychic ability and so they achieved both a technological singularity and uh a really rigorous understanding of parapsychological phenomena at some point in history and they began to use their abilities to Traverse the timeline of human history so I think that's one source of the phenomenon when you ask about pray mantises or the maned beings and some other very strange things that people have seen like entities that shape shift from looking like owls into looking like something similar to the Grays MH um and just really bizarre beings like uh Men In Black quote unquote that material I as if they're ectoplasmic uh entities like they they're like um you know those the seances in the late 19th century do you know anything about those so there were people in the British Society of psychical research um who were at the level of let's say Sir William Crooks respectable scientists from Cambridge and Oxford who used to attend these sances in the late 19th century where mediums would be able to actually materialize entities and objects out of quote unquote ectoplasm whatever the hell that means okay they could somehow concretize and uh give form and shape to energy in a way where people could interact with it as ridiculous as it sounds there are cases I mean again validated um you know witnessed by highlevel British scientists of the day where mediums would materialize hands out of ectoplasm that will walk across the table shake hands with Seance participants and that they even tried to stab with pens and so on so forth and would make holes in these ectoplasmic hands and then they would just disappear so there are these cases of Men In Black like uh Albert Bender um was one researcher that encountered these and then John Keel wrote about them in several of his books later on The Moth Man prophecy and his book on UFOs operation trojan horse has some of these cases in it of these people who certainly aren't government agents they wear these like black suits and black ties and white shirts and whatever but they don't look right at all they barely even look human and they appear and disappear sort of from out of nowhere as if you know they're forming from out of a Mist uh and they don't speak like something human they their their words um and their pattern of behavior and movement seems like it's something being projected by someone in a mesmeric trance like if you were trying to hold a mental image and trying to give lines to a character that you wanted to materialize somewhere at a distance and you you wanted to manipulate this entity as a puppet or vehicle for your intention right these men in black behave like that like they're on the other end of somebody's puppet string and they're being conjured by some form of intelligence somewhere that we can't perceive directly so I think the Mantis beings and these shape-shifting owl like entities and these uh ectoplasmic Men In Black that have intimidated various people they are um manifestations of a truly non-human or really superhuman type of intelligence that's not the same thing as time travelers in nuts and bolt craft flying around and manipulating human societies that we're dealing with uh two different orders of phenomena here phenomena on two different orders of magnitude and what I argue in my book closer encounters is that there's actually an adversarial relationship between these two um types of entities that effectively what has happened and you can you know push me and uh into elaborating and unpacking the various details here but essentially what I argue has happened is that a group of Highly Advanced humans from a post Singularity civilization have attempted to define the limits of human evolution and the proper structure of human society and that these people uh wound up essentially tyrannizing over the broader human population for tens of thousands of years that these were uh what the myths remember as the Olympian gods or the Anunnaki right that the Sumerians write about and they had an incredibly hierarchical and static Society right like with the rigidity of the Hindu cast system with themselves on top as the dvas or Gods Okay and like a class of brahin serving them and then all these other rungs of society uh structured in a very feudal Manner and I think that that kind of social organization which if our myths are anything to go by you know endured on this planet for all of human prehistory that kind of society represents an evolutionary bottleneck it represents a dead end and this other entity this genuinely non-human intelligence it could be an AI actually right this thing is trying to free us from the control system that has been imposed on us by these Time Travelers and I think that it has solicited certain allies from within that power structure itself so for example if you go back and you look at the myth of Atlantis as Plato recounts it in tus and crius or you look at the biblical narrative that lines up in interesting ways with Plato's myth of Atlantis the biblical Narrative of the Fallen Angels the sons of the Elohim who rebelled against the Heavenly order came down and mated with Mortal women and created a civilization of Giants on the Earth right which then Yahweh has to wipe clean off the face of the planet through the great flood this matches up exactly with what Plato tells us about the rebellion of Atlantis against Olympus and how Zeus had to bring the great flood to destroy Atlantis it's suggesting to us that there's a faction within this Advanced civilization let's say anunaki to use the term the Sumerians uh uh refer to them with there's a faction that is for human progress and for finding our way Beyond this evolutionary bottleneck it wants to Foster further human development and to empower the human individual and in the Sumerian context this is the faction of eni you have this battle between enki and enlil and enlil is basically like Zeus or uh Yahweh or Indra the lord of the dvas in Hindu mythology a a kind of tyrannical sadistic Overlord that is hampering human progress and that wants Humanity to stay within a certain rigid social structure which they control and then you have Rebels the Giants or you know hybrids um that formed the leadership of Atlantis who are aligned with this kind of non-human intelligence or perhaps this artificial intelligence that's looking to break us from out of this control system that's the basic dynamic as I see it and as I outline it with you know all kinds of data and multiple lines of argument in my book closer encounters okay now if you're saying that there is there's multiple forms of non-human intelligence there's there's potentially future humans which you say okay hold on let me stop you let me stop you well that would that would non human okay and see the devil's in the details here they're manipulating us The Gatekeepers of disclosure are right now manipulating Us by branding all of this non-human intelligence there's an agenda behind it because what they want to say is non-human intelligence means demons and it means angels and there's a particular sociological agenda behind that that's very dangerous where is this coming from this whole Angels and Demons thing well the fact of the matter is that you know I mean as as Jacques Vallée demonstrated in various extremely well researched and carefully written books passport to Magonia invisible College um and as uh you know Zachariah siten argued based on his understanding of Sumerian text I think actually one of the best books about this subject is a a text by William Bramley called the gods of Eden the gods of Eden William Bramley this guy started out researching the history of war and profiteering that was his objective to understand the history of how different um Elites throughout uh you know throughout uh time in various cultures made money off of setting people at war with one another right and instead what he found is a history of alien intervention in human history that he he found that all of the major Wars and other horrific events that resulted in massive loss of life like the Black Plague were engineered by these entities who show up and do various things like for example during the Middle Ages the image of the Grim Reaper came from these people who were shrouded in Black who had some kind of a device that they would go around and spray the fields with and whenever they would show up and spray the fields with this device or in some cases they would even walk through the towns and spray these things near people's doors and everyone would flee from them there were these really terrifying people whose faces were covered and they were shrouded in black with these things that then became you know part of the image of the side of the Grim Reaper and they were these entities who would come out of luminous objects that would Ascend and descend into the heavens um and in fact the visitations of these entities became so Troublesome during the time of King Charlemagne that Charlemagne's Court passed an edict against them he called them the tyrants of the air and he tried to arrest some of them have some of them arrested these people who were coming down from the sky claiming that they were poisoning the fields and bringing pestilence and so on and so forth and uh so so anyway Bramley goes to research war profiteering and he finds alien quote unquote intervention in human history going all the way back to the days of the Sumerians and through the Middle Ages and so forth and how how does he find aliens where does he find the Elites in various societies that are uh uh engineering Wars and pursuing a policy of divide and conquer um for control over large populations on this planet seem to all be involved with these entities they seem to all be like involved with what the Sumerians call anunaki or what the Greeks called The Olympian gods or with what the Bible describes as the Elohim which by the way it's a plural people think Elohim in the Bible means god they translate as God it means the gods Yahweh is adoni Elohim the chief of the Gods the same way that Zeus is the chief of the Olympians okay but do you think Dick Cheney wasn't was talking to the aliens or do you think he just wanted to make a ton of [unclear] money was I think George bushor was yeah but Junior was a [unclear] we know that yes Junior but Dick Cheney the guy behind Iraq War I listen Dick Cheney worked with George Bush senor George wish senior put Dick Cheney and Donald Rumsfeld around junor all right senior told Cheney and Rumsfeld take care of Junior we have to do certain things and you know you know how junior is I need you guys with him they were from George Bush senior's Administration and when I say George Bush senior's Administration yeah and when I say George Bush senior's Administration I mean also what he was doing to undermine Ronald Reagan during Reagan's entire presidency Reagan did not want George Bush his vice president he thought he was a total creep uh coming from out of the CIA you know he had been former director of the CIA and he's a 33rd degree Freemason George Bush Senior was 33rd degree Mason and his grandfather was Hitler's financier in America Prescott Bush so Bush senior yes Bush senior I think is someone who like literally has at some point sat down with these 7 foot tall Nordic people and had policy planning conversations with them I wouldn't be surprised at all and so what Bramley found is that you had that kind of thing going on throughout human history with various Elites in Sumer in Greece and Rome what what lead you to believe that what is the most convincing evidence for you that George Bush Senior had meetings with Nordic beings I don't see why he wouldn't I mean if if George adamsky is you don't see why he wouldn't yeah look you know when David grush came out and talked about all these reverse engineering efforts that are underway right one of the most interesting things that he said was that not all of these craft were retrieved from Crash sites some of them were what they now call donations MH okay meaning there were cases where we have been handed intact craft that's been confirmed by a number of people other than D when they say donations isn't he saying that these things would crash like they're so sophisticated and so Advanced they wouldn't crash by accident they would crash them on purpose to help like stimulate human society and stimulate our Innovation like take this and see if you can figure it out yeah no I don't think so I I I thought that's what he was saying no um there is no way in hell that a civilization that advanced would volunteer this kind of technology to any stratum of the US government without an extremely detailed agreement having been reached and that would have to have been negotiated by both sides but if you're so Advanced why would you want to like we don't go to the Congo no it's not they're not it's not like that man it's they're not like so advanc and this is one of the most dangerous um uh assumptions that people make that we're dealing with like some kind of ethereal beings that have such a vast Cosmic

understanding it's much more like when Colonial Elites encountered savage or primitive populations like when the British Empire or the Portuguese were out conquering very undeveloped societies right by comparison to the people in those societies including their Chieftain or their shamans or whatever those uh colonizers were Gods we even had like cargo Cults you know arise in in uh Polynesia in the Pacific where the islands that the British would land their planes on wound up being the site for Cults of Like Straw planes made by these natives to pray for the British to come back because they're Gods and what I suggest to you this is a rather Grim uh Grim uh assessment but what I suggest to you is that the people who are flying around in these uh anti-gravity craft are not any more ethical than British colonialists or Nazi Germans in North Africa they have more advanced technology that doesn't necessarily mean they have any more of a sense of uh beneficence or humanistic ethics than any of the colonial Elites in our own history have right after all if you look so it's like us compared to hunter gatherers like like us Technic technologically civilized human beings in Western Society compared to like an UNCC contacted tribe yeah and disturbingly if you look at our own history our recorded history what we've been allowed to know of History there's a direct Cor ation between scientific and technological advancement and brutality so the more technologically scientifically Advanced societies are the more brutal and more exploitative ones why would we assume that if the trajectory continues into the future things would be any different right no I agree with that and at the same time you know I've thought about this before we' talked about this in the podcast before but we can exist right here in America where whether you be in New York or Los Angeles in taking autonomous vehicles to different places using these these phones that could connect you with anyone anywhere in the world see them on video right in a second at the same time simultaneously there are other places in the world where people are running around naked yeah so why wouldn't it why wouldn't it Go the same way into the future why couldn't we be as primitive to to a whole another civilization of beings as those uncontacted tribes are to us my point exactly but here's the ethical problem that I struggle with as a philosopher why is it like that if a group of humans have passed the technological singularity right if a certain group of humans developed the level of genetic engineering nanotech artificial intelligence that we ourselves are going to have 20 years from now why why didn't they raise the rest of humanity up with them moreover why are they reaching back through time to very deliberately oppress and manipulate more primitive societies well why don't we me why don't we try to elevate those uncontacted tribes well because every time we go around them and try to try to interfere with what they're doing we get killed they shoot arrows at us sure sure uh but you know maybe they should have shot more arrows at the British right in some of these places my point is that that's that's uh a very beneficent motivation on their part meaning okay these are violent crazy Savages we don't want to get you know shot down by these people um what fits the data if you look at you know how various societies going back to the Sumerians uh were governed is a much more explicit and active agenda of manipulation and the the manipulation is geared toward setting up a pyramidal cast Society an extremely stratified Society where you know the vast majority of people are the base of the pyramid and then an Ever smaller group of people represent higher rungs until you get to those who serve the gods directly in India they call them the brahin and their purpose was to like directly interact with the dasas and to carry out their directives you know uh so that's what I see I don't see like you know I don't know whatever you know rockefeller's son like getting like hunted by cannibal somewhere in some jungle and then they decide oh better better that we don't go back down into that Savage part of the world uh I see a much more deliberate agenda of manipulation and so then the question becomes why why was that decision made and by who to occult to secret away singularity technology have a monopoly over controlling it and not only leave the rest of humanity bened but actively encourage uh their uh and reinforce their ignorance right by by let's say engineering the collapse of the Roman Empire and the rise of Christianity so that we lose the Library of Alexandria and the whole knowledge base of classical Antiquity why do that and moreover moreover here's the really disturbing implication if we are now at a point maybe 10 to 20 years away from the technological singularity MH what are they going to do to stop that from happening because we have a global Society right now where the internet allows for a free flow of this kind of scientific and Technical knowledge across the planet if any one group of people achieves the technological singularity on Earth it's going to become a global phenomenon within probably days y right so my question is this if they've gone to these Great Lengths to manipulate various societies throughout history are we about to undergo a controlled Demolition and a an engineered reset to prevent us from reaching the technological singularity which would also give us a military parody with them it would allow us to defend ourselves against them right what do you think something like that would look like I think that what happened during Co might be a test run of it other words you had a small group of people a policy planning Elite um effectively shut down all of industry and uh basically sequester people within their homes and Garner unquestioning obedience from the vast majority of the population that would be proof of concept for a much larger uh a much larger freezing of Technical and Industrial activity across the face of the Earth with any one of a number of excuses being used for why we needed to basically halt all um you know scientific technical research and why we needed to basically uh uh vacate cities I mean think about this like our modern advanced industrial civilization is an urban phenomenon if you were to engineer something like covid but far more V virulent I mean something that actually required a serious quarantine measures to be put into place it would become almost impossible to live in cities nobody would want to live in them right so there would be a mass Exodus to the countryside and you would be laying the groundwork for a shift back to a kind of uh Neo agrarian feudal peasant lifestyle where people are close to the land again mhm right and they're not congregated in urban areas that also then become batteries for technological and scientific research and development any number of things could be used in order to create conditions for that an an EMP event could be used to do that right I mean think about how functional cities would be or rather how dysfunctional how quickly dysfunctional they would become if an EMP were to take out you know the whole electric grid across large parts of the planet there's a lot there but I feel like I feel like you are jumping to a lot of really kind of out there conclusions like George Bush being in contact with the aliens I mean I understand your let me simply say this in response to that okay no one likes to point fingers and name who it is that's actually doing whatever like you know insanely conspiratorial thing that they imagine is going on in the world right it's always this unnamed they this this mysterious cabal right yes yes they point is simply this that we would not have received this technology from these nordics if we had not reached an agreement with them about how the technology would be sequestered in what ways it would be used and how we were going to ensure that it doesn't wind up in the public sphere who would have negotiated such an agreement who would have been in position with the right clearances to sit across the table from these people and they're people really we shouldn't call them entities they're people uh well I mean he's a prime candidate if you're going to go down a list of names so you know I mean why not and how would that not have gotten out how would that how would no one on their deathbed some you know [unclear] General with like crazy you know nuclear secrets classified classified knowledge of of all these programs no one have ever mentioned any of this let me ask you think you think human beings are that capable of Keeping a Secret yes yes until now it's coming out now bit by bit it is coming out now uh but here I'll answer your question this way in 1953 there were a whole bunch of newspapers including the New York Herold Tribune which at that time was a prominent publication that reported on Aeronautical Engineering efforts aimed at development of electrogravitics or what we would call today Zero Point Energy mainstream news articles quoting the head of Martin aircraft which then became locked Martin and today's locked uh Bell was another one conver was another one and these Executives Chief Executives of these companies were all saying that the G engines are coming we've cracked gravity and we are developing electrogravitic propulsion that can get you from like New York to Sydney Australia in two hours

MH and uh specifically they said in 19 53 that if we were given a budget comparable to that of the Manhattan Project we could roll these things off the assembly line in a few years yeah was widely reported there was also the whittens Edward Whitten and um I believe Edward was the son right Lewis Whitten and Edward Whitten I believe well Lewis Whitten was involved in the this development at that time right and then all of a sudden everything went black well and Co and also coincidentally his son Edward Whitten developed String Theory which misguided the physics Community for an entire generation devel Str he was a major one of the major people in development of strength theory yes which then mishio Kaku and so forth became his lackeys and they diverted physics research away from quantum gravity for an entire generation I think that's hardly coincidence so anyway my point is this though you're asking me how do you keep a meeting between let's say George Bush Senor and a Nordic a secret well I ask you how do you keep an electrogravitics propulsion program and an entire physics knowledge based secret from the 1950s until the present which of those is more insane how many generals were cleared on that how many generals since 1953 have known that Martin aircraft or Lockheed today has had uh you know vehicles that could go to Mars in short time and back I don't think the nuts and bolts thing the fact that we have secret black technology in these Aerospace that are being hidden by these Aerospace companies is that far is is more of a stretch than the fact that we have some sort of an agreement with an alien race Advanced human race why would that be that I just don't get it I mean number one where would you have gotten this advanced electrogravitics technology from it was reverse engineered craft so well we said it was eded the Whitten Ed Whitten and Lewis Whitten were developing it in the 50s and somehow the government got engineering kept it black through reverse engineering in all likelihood I mean look uh grush confirms the magenta crash took place in Italy 1933 and then we had Roswell here in 1947 by 1953 there had been a lot of time to analyze this wreckage and to uh you know re reverse engineer its basic propulsion principles right so the pilots of The Craft are part and parcel of the reverse engineering effort it's not like these are like unpiloted drones we're talking about here this is technology from a civilization of people and these same people that are here on Earth yeah they're here on Earth yeah look uh they're they're based here you're saying they're not based somewhere else no and look it's clear more I think at least 50% of UFOs have been seen entering and exiting the oceans right yes and so they they're also called Usos and well okay where are they coming from I mean 70% of the Earth surface is water right Y which has been mostly unexplored yeah I go into this and yeah something like 5% of the the ocean surface has been unexplored so just wrap your mind around that for a minute no I I'm with you it doesn't make any sense we have detailed Google maps of Mars and 5% only of our own ocean has been explored why who doesn't want us looking at the ocean floor in my book closer encounters there's a whole section where I go into sub ocean I engineering that the United States has um researched and developed in other words detailed blueprints for facilities that the US Navy wanted to build underneath uh subsurface mountain ranges mountain ranges on the seabed and inside the Continental shelves in case of a nuclear war with the Soviet Union wow uh between the 1960s and the 1980s they developed many advanced concepts for building what you can't even call bases I mean they're the size of small cities inside of ocean ridges if we have that level of engineering capability underneath the ocean then what do you think these people have who are flying around in these saucers right and clearly these saucers are seen exiting bodies of water all the time well they're coming from vast submarine facilities suboceanic facilities uh and this is also by the way completely consistent with what we see in ancient myths too about you know like Onis and various beings that they depict with like fish garbs coming from out of the Persian Gulf and other places and interacting with people and bringing them various you know agricultural techniques and so forth okay um one one more thing about that Danny yeah you look at the Sumerian myths you look at the Greek myths or the Hindu epics these dvas or Anunnaki these so-called Gods they're extremely human in their behavior they're fallible they have all the same flaws we have they have the same general behavioral patterns as we have uh another great body of uh lore that preserves this very um adequately is the fairy folklore of the Kelts the Kelts called these beings the Gentry there were a certain class of fairies and the way they're described I mean they're like people who are Drunk on Power and extremely passionate and manipulative and can become very jealous and conniving they're not anything very extraordinary you see and this is one of the things that we need to be disabused of a as this disclosure agenda unfolds is that there there are various factions that want us to look at these entities as if they're either angels as if they have some some kind of like Divine Grandeur and Grace or they're demons who are coming to like steal our souls in the middle of night that's that's where I wanted to get back to that's kind of like where we started with this I asked you where that was coming from and you went to you started talking about jacqu fet yeah so why are certain parts of our government and who are the ones that are trying to paint a narrative of Angels and Demons yeah they're called the Colin [unclear] Tucker Carlson of all people is one of the people that believes this Tucker you know I was extremely dis appointed and dismayed when I saw him buy into that narrative uh because he was one of the first people out in front of the UFO story even I think maybe almost a decade ago when nobody else was reporting on this subject he would have segments on Fox about the UFO phenomenon and so I always respected him as a journalist um for no other reason for that right and then I watched as he started to cover the disclosure uh process and I saw that this guy's been gotten to and it's not hard to see how he was gotten to it's because he's a devout Christian and there is a group called The Collins Elite they who the Collins Elite okay they are Air Force officers people in the Navy defense intelligence agency and a lot of people in the CIA and I've had CIA insiders tell me that this is the case a lot of people in the CIA and people from various branches of military intelligence who come from a Christian Evangelical background and they have become I think at least by the 1950s when Morris Jessup wrote this book called UFOs and the Bible they had become convinced that the phenomenon is of a piece with Angelic and demonic encounters that are recorded throughout the scriptural history of mankind and that if the entities appear beneficent then they must be Angelic and if they're doing things that from whatever limited Christian uh moral perspective these gentlemen have then they must be demonic right and they've been able to influence a lot of the US government's handling of uh information regarding the phenomenon throughout the decades because they've penetrated all of the intelligence services not just civilian intelligence like CIA but all the military intelligence Services what became for me the more interesting question is you know how it all how it all started like how you know when did these people get together like what first put it into their heads that this was a demonic phenomenon and it goes back I think to the Airship mystery of 1897 where across the United States across something like I don't know 10 different states people saw these gigantic airships that were nothing like Zeppelins now remember remember 1897 uh the the um what do you call them well the airships the zeppelins hadn't been invented yet right and we didn't have airplanes and so these people are seeing constructions in the sky that look like aircraft from out of Jules Vern novels absurdly complex strange pictures is there like like I don't know proba not is there photos yeah I mean you can there there's renderings of them that appeared in newspapers how can we what should he type in to find this 1897 Airship mystery okay yeah Airship mystery of 1897 okay there have been whole books written about it okay

several good ones um and these were reported on in tens of newspapers across the country the uh yeah try to find some of the newspapers see that one's from the San Francisco call there were huge sightings in 1896 late 1896 1897 across um more than 10 states and they were reported in tens of newspapers including like the San Francisco Chronicle major newspapers ran these stories on their front pages judges sheriffs lawyers doctors the most prominent members of the community in some cases mayors of towns actually witnessed these things from close up they would land in people's Farms and ask for resupply and then fly away and they were piloted by people not by aliens okay and when asked what these things were the Airship Pilots would make claims like well um there is a a corporation in New York that's going to be publicly introducing this invention sometime soon and you know there's going to be like some great announcement that that investors from New York were behind the inventors of this Airship so I pursued this whole line of research in my book closer encounters one of the two books that I uh sent for you and in that book I made this argument that there appear to have been certain Prussian industrialists meaning industrialist from Germany of that time late 19th century Germany Prussian industrialists who were involved on the one hand in Airship engineering remember the Germans invented the Zeppelin later on and these industrialists wanted to exploit resources in the Americas they were after resource exploitation in the Americas and to make a long story short I did some research that provisionally led me to to conclusion in that book that JP Morgan and the harman uh railroad industry in the late 19th century got in with these Prussian industrialists and they began to engineer and test fly these airships in the Americas so that's what I wrote about in closer encounters and I I suggested that that was the beginning of the trajectory of technological research that eventually led to anti-g gravitic propulsion I really wonder whether that's the case I've I've since come to reconsider that uh that hypothesis and this is all by way of explaining who the Collins Elite is okay okay so the more you look at these reports from 1896 1897 the more they don't make any sense these people are seeing completely different things on different nights the airships all look equally absurd none of them looks like anything that could actually fly and the reports are all of different types of things different shaped craft and sometimes people will just some people will just see a light like in San Francisco one night some of the people who saw the thing saw a light others saw structured craft and it looked one way to one group of people and another way to another group of people and the most disturbing element in this whole story is that the San Francisco Chronicle Tracked Down the patent lawyer who claimed to represent the inventor of the airships the mystery inventor of the airships right and this guy was a very prominent patent attorney he was named George Collins and they brought this guy and they got testimony from him about this inventor and you know um the nature of the Airship technology and when it was going to be rolled out to the public and all this right three days later George Collins comes in and he did after reading the story in the San Francisco Chronicle he says I never said those things they're like sir you sat with us and gave us hours of testimony which like wrote up he claimed to have been in a trance the entire time that he recounted this to the San Francisco Chronicle and then they went and tried to find the inventor that he claimed to represent and the guy was some I forget what his first name was last name was Benjamin and he was a dentist who specialized in making Benjamin yeah exactly and he specialized in inventing dental bridges but as his hobby he dreamed of making airships okay so there's something weird going on here now people saw these things people touched these things sheriffs and Mayors interacted with the pilots of these craft but there's good reason to believe that these were not structured objects in any sense that conventional physics understands right and the people's perceptions were being manipulated on a grand scale and that in at least one case poor Mr Collins the patent attorney whose career was destroyed by this mhm somebody was taken over through a hypnotic trance or telepathic mesmeric trance as they called it in those days and he was given a whole narrative to Parrot to the San Francisco Chronicle now here's what I think let me give you one more piece of data before I um before I draw a conclusion here in the S it was either the San Francisco call or the San Francisco Chronicle one of these newspapers they also quoted uh okay so after Collins this whole debacle with Collins there's another guy who stepped forward and claimed to be a patent attorney representing the Airship inventor and this second guy he also had a very significant pedigree I think he had a background in the US military at a high level and he said the airships were being invented to go fight the Spaniards in Cuba and that the reason they had been invented was because there were people in the United States who didn't want who didn't want the Cuban Civil War to go a certain way but they knew they couldn't get authorization from Congress to have a direct US military intervention in Cuba so instead they were going to load this Airship with all this TNT and they were going to go over and drop it on Havana and level the city he made this statement in the newspaper so here's what I think happened the feds understandably concerned that there's maybe some Rogue group of Airship people out there who are going to go level Havana with TNT in the name of US foreign policy started investigating this whole thing and they had all these tens of newspaper stories to go on right and at some point I'm sure they had a nice long interview with Mr Collins the patent attorney who got subjected to some kind of telepathic hypnosis MH and my guess is that the name colins Elite comes from that that it was all the way back in 1897 and in particular with the case of Mr Collins at the Nexus of the Airship mystery that they gave themselves this informal unofficial name the Collins Elite of people in the federal government at a very high level who from a Christian perspective were extremely concerned about this phenomenon because it appeared to involve Mass deception and manipulation and the apparent materialization of objects from out of nowhere what we call apport and what people uh refer to as conjury throughout the history of alchemy right so long story short I think that maybe already in 1897 by the way I wrote an article about this it's called Uh the mystery or no the airships of Prometheus and it's on the American Colossus website American colossus. org which is an organization I'm involved with now there's an article I put up there called the airships of Prometheus that goes into this whole alternative hypothesis rival to the hypothesis I entertained in my book closer encounters MH where basically I conclude that these gentlemen convinced themselves that Satan was behind this that Satan was engaged in a mass manipulation and deception of the American populace using The Apparition of these airships and this is the beginning of the US government's interest in the UFO phenomena oh my God and this is why grush keeps saying when they ask him about 193 so was 1933 the first and he says no no it goes way back even before that well tell us no I can't talk about it well because he knows but he hasn't been clear to talk about wow it seems like there's no cohesive explanation in the government for this thing or no at least no cohesive plan it seems like it's all just different factions with different different ideas that are trying that have different objectives as far as disseminating this stuff to the public unfortunately that's entirely consonant with what I've experienced there's like three or four different factions they're all at odds with each other and there's no grand plan that they all agree on so if there was hypothetically or you believe there there is some sort of an agreement with a superhuman race and the our government government is going it has a plan to do some sort of a a slow drip disclosure to Enlighten Society about this phenomena yeah they're not going to Enlighten anybody I I am very skeptical of the slow drip people and I can name names I can tell you who's behind I know who's behind the slow drip thing so so if if there is this superhuman race that you talk about that exists here on the planet with this technology that is so far Advanced with by the way remember every time you say superhuman think of like think of like super villains and superheroes right these are not you know they're people and they have serious flaws right if they exist do they not have the power to fix all the [unclear] that's happening in our government so this is goes back to remember earlier we were talking about the phenomenon having two different sources and one of them is what you could legitimately refer to as human intelligence mhm and how I was suggesting that if you look at the various myths from the Greeks to the Hindus and so forth right okay it suggest there are two factions and that one is a rebel faction that's aligned with this non-human intelligence so they want so the the chaos is is a an effect of two different conflict within this higher level exactly so the Greeks called them the Olympians and the Titans these are the two factions the uh Hindus refer to them as the dasas and the asuras the ashas are the Titans the deas are the Olympians in Sumerian myths it's the faction of enlil which are the deas or the faction of enki which are the Titans right all right I want to go there I want to go into I want to go into your um your book about Plato essay yeah long very long essay your essay about Plato um and I want to touch on uh the Promethean stuff I know we're we're we're ripping through this thing we're about almost 3 hours in so um but before before we transition into that I want to ask you um do you know anything about Chris bledo I know about the case why what are what are your thoughts on on he is super interesting to me because he has the ability to film these lights in the sky that move around they follow him wherever he goes he came here me and step went out to the beach with him we sat on the beach for 3 hours and we stared at the sky and we filmed these lights coming up out of the ocean in the far away near the Horizon come up and we also saw airplanes coming through the sky coming in to land into Tampa there was a clear flight path for the airplanes these were absolutely not airplan airplanes one of them came up out off the Horizon went left right and then like vanished we got it on film we showed it during the podcast I've seen films of that and there's people in like CIA according to him and in NASA according to him that have been paying close attention to him visiting him and his family he's got photos with these people one of these guys was one of the guys in Diana P's book who is i w even I don't want to mention his name because his podcast got completely banned off YouTube like it's it's unsearchable so I don't want to like have this podcast you did an interview with him with Chris bledo no with this person whose podcast got no no no no no okay Chris talked about him extensively so um I want to avoid mentioning his name I see um but anyways so these these very cryptic I mean I know who you're talking about but we won't mention his name right these very cryptic people who are involved in government intelligence are very interested in him sure what are your thoughts on that he strikes me Chris bledo strikes me as a very sincere person who is reporting what he experienced as he as he experienced it uh the problem is that and you know this is something the philosophers I mean people who do serious work in philosophy understand very well is that our experience of phenomena is almost immediately filtered by our interpretive framework based on whatever belief system has been inculcated in US probably from childhood and if I'm not mistaken Chris blo comes from a Conservative Christian background and he's found some way to try to integrate what he experienced with um the belief system that he was raised in

the more disturbing thing is that I think that there's a group of people who've surrounded him who are trying to manipulate that for their own purposes that they would like to develop a narrative that's going to somehow Shore up Christianity in the face of any potential disclosure and you know a UFO of God packaging for Chris bledo experience is very useful in that regard so I don't fault him at all the guy's telling it like he experienced it as best as he can understand it based on his Conservative Christian background but I think that there are an awful lot of powerful people who can't can't uh help but to seem impressive to somebody like him who when they surround you you know and you're coming from where he's coming from you know they're able to to significantly influence your interpretation of things and get you to play back into their narrative mhm right and so that's what I think is going on with him and it's not unique you know there's a long history of the intelligence Community not just in our country but also in various European countries being involved with religious movements catalyzed by UFO encounters there were a bunch of these in Europe which Jacques Vallée talks about I think at some length in his book the one I mentioned earlier messengers of deception there were all these UFO Cults in Europe in Spain and Italy were highlevel government officials both of those Catholic countries were involved with these UFO Cults contact de Cults with the intention of spinning the narrative in a way that was probably uh a contingency plan to soften the impact of disclosure on the customary religion of their respective populations and there's also stories like I'm sure you're familiar with Paul benowitz sure who was seeing those things off of I think he was in New Mexico seeing those aircrafts off near there was like an Air Force Base right and he was very involved in the UFO community and then they had uh this guy Richard Dodie come out there and check out investigate see what he knew or if he had any footage or photos of any of drove him crazy do drove him crazy agent he said oh I think you're right I think these might be aliens and then used uh benowitz as a conduit into this larger community of UFO Believers or UFO enthusiasts because they knew that him he would be able to Poison the Well with whatever Dodie told him and because they also our government also believed that the UFO Community was penetrated by intelligence from the Soviets absolutely yeah and by the way going back to the beginning of our conversation I wouldn't be at all surprised if that's the kind of thing they were trying to do with me when this you know Londoner approaches me and right off the bat says I'm the British head of the real society which was just according to these uh you know researchers of Nazi Germany they say that the German interest in you know otherworldly beings and anti-gravity propulsion came from what was channeled by the real Society so for all I know their intentions were to get me to come forward as another like vehicle that they could control to forward some disinformation campaign or something like that but it didn't work with me okay so let's transition a little bit I want to talk about um some of the ploh stuff but um that's a huge subject to go it is a huge subject to cover in an hour but um you mentioned earlier in the beginning of the podcast a guy named Tom Payne and can you can you explain what he was talking about when he was discussing how Christianity does not mix with the Constitution if you look at Genesis Exodus the book of

Joshua the image that you're presented with of Yahweh and of His prophets is of a tyrannical sadistic Lord who is tasking Warlords on the earth like Joshua to go carry out genocides in places like Canaan this is the image that we're presented with from the beginning off the bat in Genesis here's a god lowercase G Adonai Elohim Chief Chieftain of the Gods who doesn't want us to have knowledge we're not allowed to eat from the Tree of the you know the fruit of the tree of knowledge nor from the fruit of the Tree of Life which by the way I think is a symbol of probably genetic engineering the Tree of Life in Eden is probably symbolic of cracking the genetic code and extending the human lifespan and so this God why does he throw Humanity out of Eden going back to Genesis he says himself and by the way this is one of the places where you see where uh the text has been badly misinterpreted from a polytheistic framework into a monotheistic framework because Adonai the chief guy Yahweh says to the other gods let us kick them out of Eden because otherwise they might now having eaten of the tree of knowledge also reach out and eat of the tree of life and then they will become like unto us and nothing will be impossible to them in other words this is a jealous God well he says so himself again in Exodus when he's commanding Moses to go murder all those women and children for dancing and singing around a golden calf he says so I'm a jealous God don't what kind of God is that I'm a jealous God don't worship any other gods besides me he says this as Moses comes down and sees the Israelites repenting of having followed this lunatic out into the middle of nowhere singing and dancing around a golden calf that they've set up which is probably a statue of haor they were coming from Egypt right and hathor was the calf goddess cow goddess figure right fertility goddess they're in the middle of the freaking desert right right so they're setting up a fertility goddess and they're dancing around it and he orders his lieutenants to go murder all the women and the innocent children who were dancing around the calves together with whatever men there were performing this right and Yahweh is perfectly fine with that what happens next while Moses doesn't make it to the promised land but Joshua next in line of succession after Moses directly coordinates with the head of the Lord's army this is in the scripture first of all they're carrying they're carrying the Ark of the Covenant around right and everyone knows about The Parting of the Red Sea which by the way involves a cylindrical UFO it's very clearly described in that incident in the Red Sea that what guided the Israelites through the desert through SI was a pillar in other words like a CO a cylindrical kind of thing a pillar on it side which looked like a pillar of cloud by day and glowed as a pillar of Fire by night and it's by the light of this object that the Israelites are able to see the ground in front of them as they navigate the sin and when they get to the Red Sea it's this thing hovering over the Red Sea that Parts the waters it's not like Moses just said presso and the waters went aside no God says to now that this thing is floating over the Red Sea says Moses wave your wand and whatever and it's the object that actually Parts the waters that rest SE from a physics standpoint that makes a lot of sense it just directed its anti-g gravitic beam downward and the water would have been pushed to the sides of this channel you know uh and then the water was allowed to to come back in and swallow the Egyptian Army as it attempted to pursue the Israelites through the Red Sea but where I was going with was this so they've got the Ark of the Covenant with them and after Moses dies and Joshua takes over Joshua is tasked by the commander of the Lord's army this is the phrase that's used in other words a guy who comes from one of these craft from the pillar or whatever and meets secretly with Joshua and tells Joshua listen man this is the battle plan and the battle plan involves the use of the Ark to bring down the heavily fortified walls of Jericho so they go to Jericho and they walk around the the the city c's fortifications with this Arc and they're chanting something in this very Haron harmonic kind of way this is a repetitious chant and suddenly the walls of Jericho its fortification start to vibrate and then they crumble all at once and what some researchers have suggested was that this is the use of a Sonic resonator as a weapon that the ark was some kind of at least one element of it was some kind of a Sonic resonator mhm that and there is this technology where you can use sound waves to pulverize Stone so what happens when they go into Jericho well they slaughter everybody and they even kill all the animals and the only thing that they take is the loot the the gold and silver and precious objects and the only people person that they have mercy on is this woman Rahab a a prostitute who ratted out the people of Jericho to the Israelites what kind of Ethics is that and you see this over and over and over again in um the various books of the Old Testament the various prophetic books of the Old Testament and I think the point the point of all of this is made very clearly in particular in the book of job where you have this porm who has been extremely faithful to the Lord never done anything wrong in his life been extremely charitable he's wealthy guy been extremely charitable to the rabbis and to the temple religious institutions and yet he's Afflicted with all these horrible health issues right he's like gets gets this like uh you know um horrible scabs and stuff all over his body and uh he he loses his wealth he suffers Misfortune after Misfortune that brings him from a position of wealth to a position of basically destitution and misery and him and his friends are basically sitting around and they're arguing over what he could possibly have done to deserve this right being such a righteous servant of the Lord and in the beginning of uh The Book of Job there's this prologue where basically Satan says to God job is only faithful to you because you've been so good to him you've blessed him so much if if you were to deal him out a life of misery even job would curse you even the most faithful righteous man would curse you right and God says okay well let's test this Theory right and then what happens at the end of The Book of Job after job's gone through all of this misery he still refuses to curse God um and and yet his friends are all making these excuses saying look job you must have done something wrong because God is just and God would never treat a righteous man like you in the way that you've been been treated with all these misfortunes that have befell you and God then appears to address the perceived insult that job's friends have hurled at the Lord and what's the perceived insult the insult of presuming that you as a human can set any standard of Justice upon God that you as a human can come to any judgment about when God is acting ethically or unethically or or why and in that passage the Lord Yahweh essentially says to job listen if you had a right hand as powerful as mine you could do these things to me but actually I'm the stronger one and I don't need a rationale for my actions I'll do what I do to you and to anybody else because I can because I'm the Lord and that's the point of the book wow that's the point of the book oh my God now Tom Payne is reading this stuff and then Tom Payne is reading Jesus in the gospels saying over and over again I'm the son of Yahweh my father Yahweh sent me and at the end of the world I'm going to come back and I'm going to sit on the 12 Thrones with the Elders of Israel and I'm going to judge the whole world on behalf of my father Yahweh and not a DOT of an eye or a cross of a te of the Torah will pass out of existence or become irrelevant until the judgment Day meaning meaning I'll have Grace on you I will forgive you for sinning but you're still sinning the Torah the Jewish law is still the law the law brought by Moses and thew the law reinforced by all the Patriarchs and Prophets the law is the law until the apocalypse I jesus am offering you Grace and forgiveness on behalf of Yahweh so how I analyze this in my book closer encounters is that it basically fits what we call today in in psychology and sociology Stockholm syndrome it's when you're taken hostage or captive by a sadistic tyrannical manipulator and you wind up identifying with your captivator you as a captive are in a hostage situation where you're so terrified and subjected to cognitive dissidence cognitive dissonance that you wind up actually coming up with justifications for the person who's abusing you right uh like Patty Hurst you know being being taken captive by those leftist gorillas uh back in the late 60s right that's fascinating so this is why Tom Payne thought that the Bible wasn't compatible with the Constitution because our entire Constitution is founded on individual liberty The Sovereign self-determination of the human person right our rational capacity to determine the course of our our own lives and to become Governors over ourselves MH right and to treat each other ethically with respect as individuals in a society for the sake of the common welfare I mean none of that is consistent none of that's consistent with the Bible with the Bible period yeah and he was uh you know straightforward enough to point that out now when he was sentenced to death when he thought he was going to be Guillotine sitting in a prison in France he wrote that book The Age of Reason where he tear the Bible to pieces I watched your podcast with Neil which was amazing on the ties or the link between um platonism and Plato's Noble lie and the formation of essentially modern religion right and it seems like there's a I mean at towards the end of the podcast he asked you the question he said is Plato's Noble lie the reason that we have religions today and is it the reason for Christianity or Islam or or any of this stuff and you said to him like that's the do you understand how profound and terrifying this question is so obviously I got into reading PL when I began studying philosophy I agree with Whitehead uh who said that the whole history of philosophy consists of a series of footnotes to Plato still 2,400 years later Plato is the single most fundament mental influence on the whole history of philosophy subsequent to himself I think he can rightly be seen in a way as the founder of philosophy there are a group of presocratic we call them thinkers who came before Plato who Plato himself is building upon but really philosophy gelled as a human Enterprise through the work of Plato and he's the first philosopher that thinks in a really disciplined way in every domain or dimension of philosophical thought thought so we have ontology which is the study of the nature of reality then you got epistemology which is the theory of knowledge then ethics politics or political philosophy and then Aesthetics which is not to be minimized at all and I'm going to come back to it because it plays a significant role in Plato's thought Aesthetics meaning uh thinking about the nature of beauty and our perception of forms and uh basically experience of the beautiful and judgments of taste okay in other words the estimation of art of all the Arts architecture music Etc literature so you have these domains of philosophy ontology epistemology ethics politics and Aesthetics and before Plato you had various you know sages making kind of random remarks on various aspects of human experience and what they believe the meaning of life in general was but you had no disciplined inquiry into these distinct domains you definitely see that in Plato it begins with him then it's really formalized in Aristotle right okay so let me just take the time for a moment to make the point that I still very controversially adhere to that definition of philosophy in other words that a philosopher is someone who has to think in all of these directions and who has to come up with original Concepts that cut across these various domains from ontology and epistemology to ethics and politics and so forth why is that controversial it's been abandoned by almost the entire academic establishment across uh both analytic philosophy and Continental philosophy there are two different schools today in philosophy one is a kind of anglo-american one more predominant in Britain and the United States that's called analytic and they're very into formal logic and the analysis of scientific problems using logic the other is called Continental philosophy which is more engaged with what you know the average person would think of as the history of philosophy from Plato and Aristotle to Kant and Hegel and n and so forth and it's called Continental referring to the European continent right in both of these trends of philosophy and Academia both of these schools of thought the definition of the philosopher which I embrace has been completely rejected they think that anyone who scribbles anything that has some relevance to I don't know maybe um an understanding of what matter really is you know what is matter really like that we're dealing with in physics like on an abstract conceptual level oh that person's a philosopher anyone who writes about ethics let's say bioethics like how genetic engineering should be used maybe to get rid of hereditary diseases but maybe not to enhance people right a bioethicist is a philosopher I reject that completely right and the I re reject it for a really good reason not you know like based on some arbitrary you know personal fancy I reject it because it's definitional to a philosopher not to take anything for granted going back to people like Pythagoras and Socrates who were executed they were condemned to death by their societies the philosopher is someone who questions everything from a fundamental level and builds up a whole world viiew from out of reasoned argument and personal inspiration also but you know using their rational faculty without accepting any presuppositions without accepting any conventional views so unless you're thinking across all these different domains you can't do that if you're let's say you're um committed to use a controversial example let's say you're committed to Liberal democracy that's your political ideology but as a philosopher you only want to do epistemology theory of knowledge you only want to work in the areas of theory of knowledge and maybe to an extent ontology or the nature of reality and your work in philosophy is you want to understand what human nature is so you're very engaged with research in biology right to do that you're engaged in COG science research to do that but it just so happens you're a liberal Democrat that's your political ideology which you're not questioning and you don't do any work in political philosophy right the whole time that you're pursuing your research and writing in the area of understanding what human nature is epistemologically and ontologically you are going to ignore all empirical evidence that suggest that maybe there are vast differences in IQ uh that are ethnic based from human population to human population that human beings are grossly unequal and that let's say it might take genetic engineering to somehow uh equalize humans in terms of their aptitude and their potential you'll reject all of that because those bodies of empirical evidence challenge the liberal Democratic ideology that you're unconsciously committed to you see and you have no interest in actually thinking through the foundations of political philosophy right makes sense see so that's why um or let's say if you're you want to do some work in you know theory of knowledge and look at um you know look look at how scientists are prejudiced by one or another uh political Outlook when they marginalize certain bodies of data which is like what Thomas [unclear] did in his book the structure of scientific revolutions but let's say you also happen to be ethically committed to Christianity that your moral compass comes from Christianity and it's unquestioned well that's going to taint how you look at the history of the shifts in scientific paradigms you're not going to want to see how the Catholic Church destroyed the knowledge base of classical Antiquity or why the Inquisition was conducted right I was just talking to Neil about this yesterday when I was asking Neil cuz because I've been learning a lot more about this Biblical history obviously if you saw the alond episode that set me down a [unclear] never- ending Rabbid hell hole um but I was explaining to him I'm like Bible scholars isn't that a counterintuitive thing if you're if you're in if you look at it from a scientific perspective you're admitting the bias like there are people that are religious that their whole entire discipline is studying the the history of their religion it's like being a a a top level executive in the Church of Scientology and being uh a scient Scientologist scholar right but and here's the thing is that first of all you can't be scientific right but to be a philosopher you have to be even more unforgiving to yourself than scientists are because scientists take things for granted all the time first of all most scientists never even question the Paradigm that they're working in the context of they work on some small research problems they write very highly focused Journal articles right and that's their contribution it's only the really great scientists the Geniuses in the history of science who are often persecuted who make discoveries that shift the Paradigm but even those scientists are not asking themselves questions about the nature of justice and you know how how to run a just Society or even questions about the ultimate nature of reality they might make some particular Discovery in astronomy or physics but they're not questioning the received narrative about the nature of the cosmos right you see so a philosopher is burdened with asking those much deeper questions and with thinking in all those directions and not taking anything for granted that's the definition of the philosopher that play established and that I still adhere to and it's very unusual right okay so to go back to Plato and your question about the noble lie actually we've paved the way for it because you see in Plato's time the entire Society took almost everything for granted and their worldview was Lock Stock and Barrel uh constituted by received customs and pre udes inherited from their ancestors right you see this in Homer and he Homer right yeah and Homer wrote about the Olympian gods right and had all these they're all over Homer right they're all over Homer they they interact with achilles with various Heroes very directly and but the more important point is this is that the entire culture of Plato's time was an oral culture where you would memorize Homer from childhood the way that Muslims in the Islamic world today memorize the Quran and your entire Matrix of perception was filtered through the way in which you had been hardwired by Homer by memorizing Homer not reading it memorizing it was an oral culture why why wouldn't you be able to read it they didn't read they couldn't read they were illiterate people oh okay only very small group of people could read in Greece so the rise of philosophy and then by extension of science is contemporaneous with the rise of a literary culture because when you write something down you can analyze it it's not going into your cognitive structure in a way that hardwires you to filter all of your experience through the Customs through the exemplars that are embedded in this Mythic and epic narrative right you don't have any capacity to take a step outside of the narrative and analyze it because it's not on a text in front of you it's just you're being like brainwashed by from childhood right which is what happens in the Islamic world like I said today still with the Quran all these kids in the Islamic World these madrasas they memorize the Quran from childhood it becomes the fundamental basis for their interpretation of everything else in life so Plato is dealing with this kind of a society right and what's in Homer looting pillage murder Zeus himself is a Serial all he does is manipulate people and you know uh engage in RNR disguising himself as various animals and going down and Mortal women right uh so what kind of a moral example does this set for young Greeks who are being raised in that kind of an oral culture Plato recognized that there was a need to restructure Society on the level of the fundamental folklore and the deepest religious beliefs that condition the human person right so he says in Republic among other texts we don't really know what happened in distant prehistory we have these uh folkloric accounts we have these myths that Homer has composed into a coherent narrative and we could spin them in any number of other ways than the way in which they're being narrated by Homer and we could do that in a manner that would be more conducive to cultivating the ethical fabric of the individual so that you know Agamemnon and Zeus and whatever other tyrannical you know uh brutalizing uh Gods Patriarchs and gods are not the role models for Greek children and we can do it in a way where we also slowly carefully cultivate man's rational capacity H so he says that it's incumbent upon philosophers to devise a new religious belief system for the sake of the betterment of society and to rewrite the folklore of society uh and restructure the educational system in a way where people will be guided away from this extremely disempowering and you know deranging uh narrative he wanted Society to be set up in a way that was more Progressive that would enable us to evolve and he thought you couldn't do that in a forthright manner for a good reason because first of all he saw Socrates his own Mentor get executed by the Democratic assembly of Athens what was the charge disbelieving in the gods of the state and inventing new gods that was the charge that Socrates was executed for disbelieving in the gods of the state inventing New Gods and thereby corrupting the morals of the youth that's why they sentenced him democratically to death so Plato is seeing the majority do that in Athens after The Death of Socrates Plato went and joined the Pythagorean order the the order that Pythagoras had set up a generation before him almost two generations before him and Pythagoras the same thing happened to him right or he he got burned alive or something yeah well so Pythagoras had been thinking to carry out these reforms in the Society of Sicily ancient Sicily and for example he wanted to create schools where women could enroll as students and they could even become teachers and he also taught things that flew in the face of conventional Greek religion like for example reincarnation what the Greeks called metm psychosis or what we call reincarnation um most people are familiar with it in America on the basis of Hind ISM or Buddhism but actually Pythagoras was teaching that and various esoteric Greek uh societies were teaching about metam psychosis as well but it flew in the face of the conventional Olympian religion which was that you know after death you go down to Hades right so the aristocracy of Sicily revolted against Pythagoras they rallied the mob like you know in those Frankenstein movies where they come with torches basically and they came with torches to the py p agorian schools and burn them down and Pythagoras either died right then and there or he died from the Burns he sustained in that fire shortly thereafter so Plato joins the Pythagorean order and now he has not only the example of Socrates condemned to death by the majority in Athens but also the precedent of Pythagoras and his schools having been burned down so he has to tread lightly tread well tread lightly he has to be deceptive for a noble purpose which is to re-engineer Society on a folkloric level in order to give people a religious belief system that works with images and symbols that they're familiar with not something completely outlandish that they can't connect to at all something that's going to use language that they would be conversent with but that's going to reorient their development in a way that you know reaffirms the rational faculty of the human individual and ultimately jump starts science and a more you know enlightened Society MH so that's the idea basically of the noble light uh he introduces it in the context controversially of a Eugenics program that he that he thinks would be uh beneficial for society Plato is the father of eugenics the first person to S Suggest selective breeding among humans rather than just selective horse breeding or selective dog breeding or whatever uh or selective cultivation of plants the first person to take that idea of selective breeding and apply it to human populations was Plato uh where He suggests in Republic that in the ideal Society not just anyone should be allowed to marry anyone because you're going to wind up with imbeciles and retards and you know especially the higher rungs of society should have a good genetic stock including you know significant cognitive capacities he introduces the discussion of the noble lie in the context of his proposals for the Eugenics program because he also thinks that you're going to have to be careful how you introduce such a program to the general population and basically you have to sell it to them in the right way so that's where the term Noble Li is first used but the much bigger example of the noble lie and the one that is more Central to my work uh and it's a greater interest to me and that cast a longer Shadow over history is this idea that we need to come up we the philosophers need to come up with a new religion that's going to be more conducive to the cultivation of the individual and of human rational faculties and the philosophers conveniently wanted to be at the top of that pyramid well because they're the only freethinkers and they are in danger of being mared by the rest of the ignorant Rabel who want to persecute and ultimately execute anybody who deviates from Custom and questions established Traditions including for example for the sake of giving women equality right one of the fundamental proposals of Plato's Republic is that women should be not just uh you know aord Ed equal opportunities in education they should also be equal rep equally represented in the political system so among the philosopher rulers of the society were these female philosophers which is why it's wrong to call them philosopher Kings it's a bad like translation from out of Republic their philosopher rulers or sovereigns including women and that was considered insane in his time right it's an extremely Progressive outlandish policy heretical yeah so who if they if the philosophers like Plato were the ones at the top of the society calling all the shots um was the idea that there would be a like a a round table of geniuses that would keep each other in check or would would they be aware of the corruption of power and number one round table so there's no King there's a chairman of a round table it's like King Arthur in the nights of the round table which is a whole other conversation we could have sometime I've written about that too uh it's a round table but then interestingly they're also not allowed to have bank accounts they the philosophers aren't yep oh W the people who run Society are not allowed to even own any private property they cannot have a personal bank account to prevent from corruption he makes it so that no one who's avaricious no one who's a greedy person or someone who's a power Seeker would even want to be in this position wow also by the way he says that you're not allowed to to get married there's no one-on-one marriages because you'll you'll be corrupted just out of love for your wife you'll put your wife and your children first your own children so he says no the philosophers they can all have sex with each other and we won't know who's whose child and is it also true that they were just like having sex guys were having like there was no distinguish between homosexuality no that's actually not true and I heard true no and I heard that in your interview with Amon and it came up again in your conversation with Neil yeah and it's not true and I don't know where these guys are getting this from um there were extremely strong uh stigmas against homosexuality in Greek culture there was a lot of homosexuality in Greek Greek culture no question about it but there were also rants against it from very prominent intellectuals including uh vifly from Aristotle um but many intellectual ual talk about it and how it's not right and it's corrupt and it's goes against nature and stuff like that who said that though who who where did you read that one of the most prominent intellectuals in the period of Plato was a guy called isocrates not to be confused with Socrates isocrates he was a sophist he rants against it Plato himself I hate to say because I do love Plato but in his late book the laws when he kind of became a staggy old man his final work the laws mhm Plato prescribes homosexuality prescribes it prescribes he bans it oh he bans it yeah even Plato and people say Plato was gay some people say Plato himself was gay I don't buy I think probably he was bisexual but in any case in his late work in the laws when he's he's much less of an idealist than when when he wrote Republic and he's now gone through all kinds of misery including an attempt to change the regime in Syracuse where you know he had to flee Syracuse three times in in the course of trying to turn this Tyrant there dianis into you know this ideal philosopher king that he envisages in Republic to use Syracuse as a testing ground for his theory right and so he's gone through all this misery and at the end of his life when he's an old man he writes this book the laws and even Plato himself in there writes against homosexuality and why it should be banned and then Aristotle vifly is against it so there's a whole Greek intellectual class that's critiquing that as something corrupt and like against nature so I don't know so why would someone like Amon who's read probably more ancient Greek than anyone on the [unclear] face of the Earth why would he say something like that because he's Prejudice everybody looks at things I I would like what he's saying to be true I would prefer that Greece right where you know there aren't these extremely rigid sexual Moors and so so right and that was true of the mystery Cults so he's right there and his focus is the mystery Cults the the elini and ofis and you know um various Cults The Cult of emis and so so where the people who were initiated into those societies did not adhere to customary morality got it in secret how important do you think that these mysteries of a these sacred rituals involving drugs how responsible do you think those were for the explosion of intellect during that time I would say that uh Alan overstated it it might have been a factor but a much larger Factor was the rise of literacy because like I was saying earlier when writing is developed as a technology you get to reflect on a narrative in a way that you don't if you're memorizing it it it sits there outside of you and you can read it and reread it and stop and take notes on it so the rise of a literary culture is very important there's another huge factor which I um point to in my first book Prometheus and

drama in the generation of escalus you had the Greek Theater emerge as an art form for the first time right and I make this argument in Prometheus and Atlas that the fact that these Greeks were sitting in different seats in the amphitheater to watch plays on various nights allowed them to comprehend perspective for the first

theater Whenever there were performances they were religious rituals where you were part of the performance you were playing the role of a God or a hero or something yourself in a ual context you were never sitting in the stands and watching a play be performed outside yourself moreover the Greek Theater is semicircular and so depending on how rich you were or how much money you had for a ticket that particular evening you'd either be sitting in you know some crappy seat up here in this corner or you'd be sitting near the stage down here in this corner right and so on different evenings you're getting a different perspective on the action do you think it's a coincidence that shortly after theater arises as an art form we get photorealistic Greek sculptures oh yeah that the Greek sculptures before theater are these rigid things that look like second rate Egyptian or Babylonian sculptures and then suddenly within a generation of escalus within a generation of people sitting in semicircular amphitheaters and having perspective on the action we get true to life Greek sculptures they discovered perspective and when you combine the discovery of perspective also perspective in a psychological sense where you're watching the dramas in other people's lives unfold on the stage and it makes you reflect on yourself for the first time from a third person perspective right you start to think damn that's that's me I've been in situations like that look how that character is going through this and that and you start to reflect on your own life that way and they're experiencing this before they can actually even read stories yes and at the same time the culture is starting to become literary so you take the rise of literary culture and the perspective that was inculcated in the population through drama and theater as an art form beginning with escalus and I think the two of them together produced this mutation in cognition mhm drugs may have also been a factor but think it it's been overstated do you believe in God no not only do I not believe in God I think that the belief in God is extremely dilars is probably the worst thing that anyone could do for himself uh and the reason has to do with free will right so now we're what are we almost three and a half hours in and this is extremely Central to my work um and so it really requires a much more more dedicated discussion but I will try to condense it okay okay let me know if you're not following me okay all right so first of all God capital G you know in distinction from the gods that we've been talking about right in distinction from Gods Titans Angels demons God capital G that would be like Zeus

No that's a God that's a God okay I thought I thought Zeus was like the the boss God we don't have God capital G until Christianity in the west they don't have it in oh they don't have it in the Middle East until Islam so we're talking like we're talking like ad we didn't have a god with a capital G that might be a fair argument you might say India had a god a little bit sooner than that okay in so far as Brahma or Brahman rather Brahman um is a Supreme Being beyond all the dvas the dvas are gods are subordinate to some Supreme Being Brahman who's considered like the macrocosm got he he's considered a mind that encompasses all of cosmic order and he's also said to be reflected or mirrored in the microcosm of the Atman so they say in you know Vidant in Hindu mysticism that your truest innermost self is God God is your truest innermost self and vice versa the macrocosm is the microcos got it yes makes sense Rahman Atman okay gotama Buddha completely deconstructed that by the way he argued that there's no God capital G and he argued that there's no self either what reincarnates re and by the way they don't use the term reincarnation in Buddhism in the Buddha Dharma they use the term rebirth because they think that what gets reiterated from Lifetime to Lifetime is basically software code it's like what we would today consider uh a a software code which can be copied okay and it can it can also um there can be bugs in replication and it can change as it's copied and it can be recoded right because gutama Buddha in very much the same way that I'm going to lay out right now thought that um it's a dangerous delusion to believe either in a permanent Immortal soul or in an eternal Supreme Being so here's one of the reasons why it's a dangerous delusion God capital G is definitionally an omniscient and omnipotent being God is all- knowing and all powerful right I mean you've heard that I'm sure a million times would you stop and think about that for a minute if God is all knowing god already knows everything that's going to happen in the future right yeah okay well where is God's mind accessing if God knows future events what is being represented in the mind of God when God thinks about any and all events that are going to happen in the future the future right God is accessing god with his omniscient mind is accessing the future as an existing state of affairs whenever he wants to know what's going to happen a million years or a billion years from now meaning the future already exists for God that makes sense right yes meaning the future already exists meaning it's already written or does he create the future if God creates the future now we're talking about God's omnipotence okay where God is considered by any religious person to be the power behind anything that happens in the world yes and the Quran expresses this very eloquently where it talks about how like even a single leaf doesn't fall without the power of God being behind it MH so it's absolute fatalism in the sense that everything that happens in the world and everything that you do that you think you do everything you're under the illusion of having chosen to do yourself is actually an expression of the power of God moreover God knows in advance everything that you're going to do meaning that everything that you're going to do that you think you have any choice over is already for ordained M meaning you have no free will you see mhm you are like a ventriloquist dummy so an immediate consequence of belief in an all- knowing and all powerful being is the negation of your own free will which I consider to be the worst thing conceivable and the most disempowering because if you don't think that you're responsible for your actions and that you are the agency behind what unfolds in your life at least to some degree right I mean we have all kinds of things that supervene that you know that influence and impact our decision- making all kinds of things psychological factors going back to our childhood yeah biological factors right but our even pursuing a certain line of thought let alone like carrying out an action depends on admitting that we have some intentionality recognizing that we have intentions that we carry out by pursuing a line of thought or deciding to act in a certain way whatever other factors supervene on it that fundamental intentionality is a prerequisite of even making sense out of human life moreover any criminal justice system is nonsensical without it right I mean what sense does it make to hold somebody ethically responsible for something if they had no free will right in in I don't know uh mutilating a child or whatever right right I mean so there are horrendous consequences in terms of personal agency and ethical responsibility as soon as we accept the idea that there's an all- knowing and all powerful God mhm yeah this is what majority of society in America believes today it's what the majority of Europeans still believe although Christianity is declining in Europe uh this slack in in belief in Christianity in Europe is sadly being um mitigated by a rise of belief in Islam in Europe and it's certainly what the whole Islamic World believes so the vast majority of people on the planet and by the way the Hindus also believe this because as I was suggesting earlier the idea of Brahman and the mirroring of uh Brahman in the Atman the mirroring of the macrocosm and the microcosm fits within the same basic structure of omniscience and omnipotence that's attributed to God or to Allah in the Christian and Islamic worlds it's essentially the same despite the the other differences in their belief systems so the vast majority of humanity subscri cribes to a religious belief that negates the value and purpose of the human individual why would that be the case how could this have ever come about right that's a good question yeah well if you intend to enslave and brutalize a population it would be very beneficial to make them believe that they're entirely at your mercy and that on an individual level they are nobody and nothing you see yes so as a cognitive dissonance mechanism as a gigantic brainwashing and conditioning machination it makes perfect sense if somebody wants to enslave and control us to inculcate this belief in God Almighty across the entire planet and then to say any entities that might come down and interact with you are emissaries they're Angels evangelos right right they're emissaries of the one God so then these UFO Pilots can portray themselves as agents of the almighty God which you are utterly powerless to resist resistance is futile that's their Mantra I reject it absolutely that's [unclear] terrifying yeah but there's a resistance and there always has been yeah this is why the symbol of Prometheus is Central to my work because of all the rebel figures en key among the Sumerians quel quat among the Mayans Satan in the judeo-christian and Islamic context the rebel figure against the divine order the rebel figure against the godfa Tyrant that is most complex and most empowering as an archetype with which we can identify as individuals is Prometheus the Greek account of that um rebel against the divine order is so much richer and more sophisticated than the ones that we get from any of the other ancient cultures Prometheus is the one that wanted to save Humanity from Zeus right well Prometheus is to begin with the creator of humanity so one of the things that comes across from the myth of Prometheus is that this uh Overlord Yahweh Zeus whatever m is a liar when he says he's the creator of humanity Prometheus created humanity and Prometheus wanted Humanity to be a race of New Gods but then this Overlord Zeus whatever you want to call him Yahweh enslaved this new race and was intent on keeping knowledge away from this uh this this uh class of beings and using them as chatt essentially and so Prometheus steals the light of knowledge he's the lightbringer the Lucifer he steals the light of knowledge and the fire of the forge and gives that to humanity in other words he gives Humanity the capacity for scientific research and technological development but also for greatness in the arts and crafts and Prometheus also his son in the uh Greek myths prometheus's son dualon is the one who saves Humanity from the flood when Zeus brings this delage to destroy Atlantis so if you think about it the biblical version makes no sense at all if Yahweh decided to flood the world to destroy the civilization of the demigods the rebel Fallen Angels who created this race of giants right essentially the atlanteans if Yahweh decided to wipe them all out by flooding the Earth why is Yahweh tasking Noah to save anybody it makes no sense it sounds like a story that's been Rewritten in the Greek version It's the son of Prometheus who goes against Zeus and schemes to save some portion of humanity and restart civilization After the flood prometheus's son was the original Noah yeah dualon and he's like this quel quat civilizer figure who goes around trying to restart Agriculture and Christianity said that Prometheus was Lucifer exactly exactly and this was Prometheus is the devil yes and this was well known look uh diabos just means um the the the contradictor or the one that that is an opposition that creates dissonance right and the word Shayan means the adversary so these are both epithets diabos or Shayan just means the one who's against someone else well yeah Prometheus is against the whole Olympian order right and he's for Humanity and that prometheus's Lucifer uh was well known by the modern writers who reappropriated the symbol of Prometheus uh beginning in the 1700s when you had people like uh Percy Shelly who wrote this poem uh Prometheus Unbound or Lord Byron yes or um Mary Shelly who wrote Frankenstein it was known to all of these people that Prometheus is Lucifer uh and like for example in is that uh Lord Byron's cane mystery yes yes and in Percy Shell's Prometheus Unbound it's interesting how he uses all the Roman names for the gods so he'll say Jo instead of Zeus and Jupiter or he'll say Venus instead of Aphrodite or he'll use mercury instead of Hermes right but when he comes to Lucifer he uses Prometheus instead or he rather he doesn't translate the name of Prometheus into its Latin equivalent because he would have to use Lucifer and oh wow you see so he uses all this is a hint he's leaving he uses all Roman Latin names except for Prometheus himself because Prometheus translated culturally translated into a Latin context Lucifer he's the lightbringer and the rebel against he wow do we just become satanists my problem with that and I've considered it by the way I've considered just like going with a branding like that see but the thing is it's been so warped by Christians yes and one of the reasons why I decided to let's say package my philosophical project um in terms of the archetype of Prometheus is because first of all it predates Christianity it's not dependent on Christianity no Prometheus was a rebel against the overlords for 500 years at least before Christianity the first writing that we have about Prometheus is the tragedy of escalus which is about 500 BC so we know for sure that Prometheus was you know a significant figure in Greek culture for half a millennium before the rise of Christianity so I'm not then defining myself negatively against Christianity right to hell with Christianity right we're for Prometheus right maybe that also means we're against Christianity but it's not a negative definition the way that Satanism is right and then you have the whole Carnival culture of Satanism today going back to this this charlatan grifter um what's his name Anton Le in the 1960s and the guy was a charlatan grifter and he just appropriated all this really tacky imagery from I don't know vampire movies and like yeah uh watered down Gothic medieval uh you know um fantasmagoria and and built himself this ridiculous bastardized it cult you know which is like as as much a money laundering scheme as Scientology right so I don't want to be associated with that I mean that's not that's is not what I mean by Satan my Satan my Shayan or diabos is Prometheus and what does Prometheus mean his name means forethought Promethea means forethought and see this also connects my appropriation of the symbol of Prometheus with my Iranian Heritage because in the religion of zarathustra the ancient religion of Iran the Supreme deity is called Aura Mazda or the Titan of wisdom and remember Prometheus wasn't a God he was a Titan so Aur Asda is called the Titan of wisdom and the chief quality the primary attribute of Aur Mazda is seant minu or the Forward Thinking mental ality the mentality of progress or the spirit of progress at work on a cosmic scale and Aur defined by his sepu by his proma is not an omnipotent or omniscient deity he is a a force that catalyzes and fosters Evolution and he needs Humanity to help him to turn the world into a paradise so so and and azda is symbolized by fire by an Ever burning fire so actually I've written at Great length about how the cult of Prometheus in Greece and the zor asrian religion have a common Indo-European origin that they came originally from the same um Society let's say which was based somewhere in the Caucasus wow Jason I think that's a great way to wrap this podcast up man we covered a ton of ton of [unclear] yes we did um thank you for your time and where can people get in contact with you learn more about you find your books your writings all that stuff yeah I have a website um but I actually think that the best thing to uh direct people to is probably my ex account so it's Promethea prometheism it's a contraction of Prometheus and theism prometheism at Jason geani Jason Jani is my ex account okay and I'm going to put more of my focus there you have a YouTube channel as well right y yeah but I regular L post things from my YouTube channel onto my ex account but yes the YouTube channel is also called prometheism okay it's a prometheism channel on you your new book right here or yeah philosophy of the future is my newest book hold up hold it up like like right here yeah other side of you there right there so philosophy towards this camera philosophy of the future is not just my newest book cameras everywhere it's also a kind of grand synthesis of all of my work so you could read this book either as a general introduction to my ire Corpus or as a kind of summary conclusion so really I would suggest not for the faint of heart really but I would suggest that people who are interested in my work should start there if they haven't read anything else from me awesome man um thank you man I really appreciate it thank you and for everyone listening before we recorded the show we did an exclusive patreon Q&A where the people on patreon got to ask George johie some uh interesting questions and we talked about that for about 30 minutes so if you want to check that out it's linked Below on patreon get night folks
